Only 2 Races In Offing for May Primary

Commissioner Contest Slated in Each Party; Three File on Last Day

Three persons filed petitions for county offices Wednesday with the board of elections, and a special issue for LaRue voters was filed before the 4 p.m. deadline.

With all the names in, only two contests developed, one in each party. The only race in the May primary will be for the county commissioner nominations.

Republican incumbent Luther J. Mitchell of near Marion, who filed yesterday for his third term as commissioner, will be opposed by Harley T. Johnston, Marion County farmer and grocer, for the Republican nomination.

Democratic Candidates

Seeking the Democratic nomination will be Calvin C. Retterer of Waldo, and Kenneth J. Armbruster of near Marion.

Filing her petition for the Democratic nomination for the county auditor post Wednesday was Mrs. Barbara B. Norris of 417 Mary St. She has served one term as city councilman-at-large and has been an unsuccessful candidate for city treasurer and clerk of Common Pleas Court.

Maurice Clements of LaRue, the incumbent auditor, is unopposed for renomination on the Republican ticket. He is seeking his second full term as auditor.

Anderson Files

Third person filing yesterday before the deadline was Virgil I. Anderson of near Cardington, Marion County farmer and educator, a Democrat, he is seeking to become Marion County representative to the Ohio general assembly.

Kenneth A. Robinson, Marion attorney and present representative, will be the Republican nominee. He is seeking his fifth term.

Unopposed for the probate judgeship will be Republican incumbent Edward J. Ruzzo, who is now serving his first full term as probate and juvenile judge.

GI Turncoats Feted at Party

Join Reds Celebrating Chinese New Year's

PANMUNJOM (U)—Twenty-one Americans who spurned their homeland for communism attended a Chinese New Year's party last night at Kaesong.

Communist correspondent Wilfred Burchett said a number of Korean and Chinese girls attended the party, and there was plenty of Chinese wine.

"I think they will be leaving soon" for Red China, Burchett said.

Fifteen anti-Communist Koreans were turned back to the Allies today by the Indian command. They presumably will be handed to South Korea. They had wanted to go to America but the Indian command ruled out their request because the United States was a belligerent in the Korean War.

There still are 12 Chinese and 74 North Koreans in Indian custody who do not want to go to the Communists or the Allies. There also are two pro-Communist South Koreans who want to go to neutral states.

Death Toll Rising In Europe Blizzard

LONDON (U)—Europe's coldest wave in seven years showed signs of thawing out today but death and misery stalked the frozen plains and snowbound mountains of Yugoslavia and Romania.

Fierce blizzards, the worst in 24 years, killed at least 14 persons in Yugoslavia's central province of Serbia. Most victims were buried in snowdrifts.

The Yugoslav victims raised unofficial estimates of Europe's cold weather toll to more than 300 deaths.

Communist Romania ordered emergency measures to meet transport, communication and power breakdowns. Bucharest radio reported acute shortages of coal, food and water in many places, including the capital.

BUS GOES OVER BANK

CLEVELAND (U)—A trackless trolley skidded on wet snow today and plunged off Wade Park avenue and down a 50-foot embankment, narrowly missing several trees in Rockefeller Park. The driver and nine passengers were shaken up, but not hurt seriously.

Top Spy Revealed As Beria's Protege

TOKYO (U)—Lt. Col. Yuri A. Rastvorov was revealed today as Soviet Russia's chief Red spy in Japan and a youthful protégé of Lavrenti Beria, recently executed chief of the Soviet secret police.

Informed American sources said Rastvorov, who asked an American Army intelligence unit for political asylum Jan. 24, was trained on the "Japan desk" of a special Soviet Foreign Office section under direct control of Beria's MVD organization.

Future Once Bright

Once a personal courier for Beria himself, Rastvorov apparently was headed for a brilliant future in the Soviet secret service.

But, the source said, a growing admiration and "weakness" for Americans, possibly Beria's execution, and finally direct orders to return to Moscow sparked his decision to change sides.

His conversion, long and deliberately sought by crack U.S. Army operatives, is called by observers here the most brilliant piece of American intelligence work publicized since the start of the cold war—and a blow at Soviet espionage in a key Far Eastern area.

"Intelligence work is subterranean war," the source said. "This is a great victory that may be decisive in Japan. It is the intelligence equivalent of a Midway or a Normandy."

Rastvorov, reported yesterday to be cooperating with American agents at the big U.S. base on Okinawa, was described as a dashing, handsome Soviet spy who moved easily in Tokyo social circles and who cultivated Americans.

"He even ate and drank at American Army officers' clubs," the source said. Some of his hosts did not know whom they entertained. Some knew all too well.

It also was revealed that at the time of Beria's execution, Dec. 23, Rastvorov made contact with American Army agents who shadowed him continually and sounded them out on changing sides.

Much as the Army wanted him, it moved cautiously until Rastvorov—apparently in panic at personally delivered orders to go home—called the agents on the telephone and asked them to protect him as a political refugee.

The unit then had no choice but to grant his request for a flight to freedom, the source said.

Soviets Taken Back
The news apparently came as a shock to the defunct Russian mission of about 35 men still in Tokyo.

Last week they filed an angry protest that Rastvorov had been kidnapped by the Americans. This is a standard Soviet charge when one of their agents deserts.

"It is ridiculous to say he was kidnapped," the source said. "He fled in fear for his life."

The American source, who is well informed but who cannot be identified, said Rastvorov, 3 feet

Big Three Abandon Hopes Of Agreement on Germany

GOP Victory Vital, Martin Tells Leaders

Control of Congress Imperative, Speaker Warns at Conference

WASHINGTON (U)—Speaker of the House Martin, speaking of a new "zip to things" in Washington, predicted today the Eisenhower program will be "well on its way to complete enactment" before Congress quits this summer.

But the veteran Massachusetts legislator said in a talk prepared for a luncheon meeting of the Republican National Finance Committee that President Eisenhower's broad legislative recommendations would never be finally approved unless a "Republican Congress" is returned in the November elections.

"It is a big, complex program, but in my opinion we will be able to enact the great bulk of it," he asserted, adding:

"Nothing can be more vital to us than the re-election of a Republican House and Senate this fall."

Republicans were here from every state for a three-day rally and campaign talks. The finance group met first to decide on an expanded 1954 campaign budget.

Among what he termed accomplishments of the administration Martin listed a "firm, understandable foreign policy based on strength and leadership rather than appeasement."

Domestically, he said, inflation "has been checked and the cost of living is going down."

But over all, Martin said, there is a "new atmosphere in Washington," the air is "fresher and

Stampede Kills 500, Injures 1,000 in India

NEW DELHI, India (U)—The bodies of 341 dead, most of them women, have been recovered at the site of the Hindu pilgrimage stampede at Allahabad. Newspapers estimated today in all around 500 were killed and 1,000 injured.

The government radio disclosed the recovered dead included 252 women, 49 men and 40 children. Three million frenzied pilgrims were involved in the crush yesterday at the junction of the Ganges and Jumna rivers, holy waters to Hindus.

A communique said the stampede developed as a group of naked Naga Sadhus—holy men—headed back to camp with their elephants after bathing.

"The Nagas and the pilgrims came together when (some) pilgrims and one Naga were crushed, along with a row of beggars sitting on the procession route," the statement said.

"The pilgrims got the impression the Nagas were violent and therefore ran for their lives, crushing to death the infirm, old, beggars and others who came in their way."

Issue Still Alive

Meanwhile, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey kept alive the issue Democrats have been hammering on—whether individual taxpayers are getting enough consideration in the proposed tax changes.

Humphrey, who defended administration-backed proposal before the committee Tuesday, declared last night on an NBC radio program that "strictly relief provisions for individuals" would amount to about 600 million dollars of the 1½-billion-dollar tax reduction envisaged.

Sees No Harm
He said that if the tax cuts that went into effect Jan. 1 were considered together with those proposed, "strictly individual relief will be about three fourths and about one fourth of the relief will be to stimulate business."

Asked whether he thought it was unethical to speak of recession in connection with current business conditions, he said, "I don't think it does a bit of harm to discuss what business conditions are."

But the people in high places have

Four-Way Split Develops

New Barriers to Bricker Proposal Rise in Senate

WASHINGTON (U)—A four-way breakup in the Senate raised new barriers today against approval of any constitutional amendment on treaty powers.

The weeks-long maneuvering neared an end and showdown voting approached on a proposal by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to limit the scope of treaties and to provide for congressional regulation of other international agreements.

Bricker tried yesterday to get George to accept a change which would make treaties and executive agreements effective as internal law only through "legislation" without specifying whether state or national—or effective if the

Sen. George (D-Ga), leader of one of the largest of four blocs with conflicting ideas, said the chances are "very good" that Bricker's proposal, strongly opposed by President Eisenhower, will die in the Senate or go back on a committee shelf.

"I don't believe any proposition can get the necessary two-thirds vote as matters stand now," he said in an interview.

However, Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader captaining an administration group pushed for a vote on a series of revisions to the Bricker resolution which had been cleared by the White House.

Bricker himself led a group which found the Knowland amendments acceptable as far as they went, but still held out for additional broadened congressional authority over treaties and presidential agreements which now are not subject to Senate ratification, as treaties are.

Kefauver Group
Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) emerged as the chief of a group generally opposed to enacting any constitutional amendment now. Although it numbered only 15 to 20 senators, the group's chances of ultimate success looked bright because those who urge changing the Constitution couldn't agree among themselves. Approval by two thirds of those voting would be needed to pass a constitutional amendment proposal in the Senate. However, modifications to the amendment could be voted by a simple majority.

George emphasized the disagreement when he announced that he and his followers—mostly Democrats—would not accept a new compromise proposal by Bricker.

Seeks Change
The Georgia senator has pending a substitute for Bricker's proposal which says that (1) treaties and international agreements are void if they conflict with the Constitution and (2) presidential agreements shall not override internal law unless Congress approves.

South Musters Force To Fight Ohio Axle Tax

Lausche Stands Firm As Ten States Apply Pressure on Truckers

ATLANTA (U)—Ohio is finding itself more and more involved in a battle between the states because of its new tax on trucks with more than two axles.

A pretty nearly solid South is lining up against the Buckeye state.

Monday, Kentucky set its sights against her northern neighbor by establishing checking stations along the border to make sure Ohio trucks have Kentucky trucking licenses.

And reports from 10 southeastern states show an increase in pressure against the Ohio tax. The Ohio tax, passed by the 1953 Legislature, comes to about $10 a trip through the state. Despite grumbling and threats by other states, Ohio's Gov. Frank J. Lausche refuses to waive payment by out of state truckers. He says it wouldn't be fair to Ohio carriers. Anyway, he says, the axle-mile tax does not belong in the same category as other taxes on which Ohio and other states have reciprocal agreements.

Pressure Increases
Georgia, Alabama and Virginia have joined Kentucky in putting additional fees on Ohio trucks. Florida and Tennessee have warned they will cancel their reciprocal agreements with Ohio March 1. Gov. Hugh White has promised to decide this week whether Mississippi will do likewise.

Will Continue Reciprocity
However, Louisiana, North Carolina and South Carolina have agreed to continue their reciprocal agreements with Ohio on truck licenses and place no additional charges on Ohio operators.

The reciprocal agreements allow trucks from one participating state to travel through another without paying additional fees or charges.

Lausche maintains reciprocity applies to licenses and fuel taxes but does not lend itself to a weight-distance tax.

New Application To Export Butter to Russia Submitted

WASHINGTON (U)—The Commerce Department was reported today to have before it a second application to ship surplus butter to Russia, but smaller than one it recently rejected.

A spokesman for the department said no decision has yet been made on the application of Dwayne Andreas, Minnesota soybean miller, to export 3,000 tons of government-owned surplus cottonseed oil to Communist Czechoslovakia.

It was Andreas who asked, but was refused, permission to buy 20,000 tons of surplus butter held in storage by the Commodity Credit Corp. of the Department of Agriculture, for resale to Russia.

An informed source who reported the new butter proposal said it was "much smaller" than the Andreas offer, but was also a proposal to buy butter from CCC stocks. The CCC buys surplus farm products to support farm prices.

Rabid Dog Scare Grips Chicago After Child Dies

CHICAGO (U)—Strict enforcement of a rabies quarantine was intensified by police and sheriff's forces today in Chicago's worst mad dog scare in 18 years.

Nearly a score of persons have been bitten by two rabid dogs in South Side districts since Tuesday night. In the current outbreak, which has resulted in the city and much of southern Cook County being placed under a rabies quarantine, one child died after being bitten by a rabid dog. The order requires dogs to be muzzled and leashed.

The motive was unclear. Police Chief K. M. Mellick of Lake Wales today said Mrs. Overton indicated she felt neglected socially by other members of the church.

One Out of 18 Disabled
The 1953 death rate for accidents of all types was 60 per 100,000 population. That was the lowest on record.

Nevertheless, one out of every 16 persons in the United States suffered a disabling injury last year.

The 38,300 traffic deaths were recorded during a year when the

Berlin Talks Turn to Pact With Austria

Western Ministers Put Off Unification For Later Conference

BERLIN (U)—The Western foreign ministers today wrote off the possibility of settling the German question at the current Big Four conference and, as one source put it, began trying to "screen out the smaller potatoes."

Still pending in this category were the long-dormant Austrian independence treaty, possible conferences with Communist China about peace in Asia and perhaps further talks between Russia's V. M. Molotov and U. S. Secretary of State Dulles on President Eisenhower's proposal for an atomic pool for peace.

Bigger Exchange
A possible outcome also was simple mechanism for building up a larger exchange of goods between West and East Germany, a trade now largely throttled by political differences despite mutual needs.

One Western informant said the Big Four ministers probably would spend the balance of this week in more fruitless talk on Germany, then move on to Austria.

The Westerners figured the parity, after nine days of talking, likely would go on for another 15 or 20.

One wide-open indication of the end to Western hopes for any major German settlement came last night when Russia's junior partner, East German Premier Otto Grotewohl, seconded Molotov's latest gimmick for Germany.

Propose Plebiscite
Inside the Russian Embassy in East Berlin, Molotov had proposed to the Western Ministers that a plebiscite be held to let the Germans in both East and West say whether they wanted an immediate peace treaty neutralizing them or wanted Germany to join the projected West European army—the European Defense Community.

French Foreign Minister Bidault speaking for the West, brushed the Soviet proposal aside. Let all the Germans elect their own unified government in the free elections the West has proposed, said Bidault, and that government can make its own decisions.

The British dismissed the plebiscite proposal as a ridiculous sideshow designed to hide Russia's refusal to let the Germans choose their own government. To the Motorists were cautious going to and from work this morning as driving conditions became hazardous after an inch and a half of snow fell in Marion and area.

Traffic was slowed, especially at intersections, because of the slippery streets.

The snow began falling about 3 o'clock. Light snow is forecast for early tonight, with the mercury to reach a low of about 24 during the night. The forecast for Friday is rather cloudy with moderate temperatures.

The high temperature reading yesterday was 39, and the low during the night was 23. A year ago, the mercury recorded a high of 40 and a low of 20.

Employers Are Entertained by Club Members

Business, Professional Women Hold Annual 'Boss Night' Dinner

Approximately 100 members of the Marion Business and Professional Women's Club and guests attended the eighth annual employer-employee dinner meeting Wednesday night at Hotel Harding. The education and vocations committee headed by Miss Marjorie Williams was in charge of the event. Table decorations were in a patriotic color scheme in keeping with February, and the club collect was read by Miss Clara Alice Wilson preceding dinner.

Guest speaker was Norman C. Webster of Columbus, a former teacher, college instructor of speech, and lecturer and humorist who is now working on an advanced degree at Ohio State University. His subject was "So You Don't Like Poetry." Dinner music was by pupils of Mrs. Mary Salisbury, including two instrumental groups, the Polka Dot Trio and the Dominos, who were accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Salisbury.

CLUB PRESIDENT Miss Mary Martha Luke welcomed the guests. Roll call was by Mrs. Edith Kirby with introduction of guests by the members in turn. Group singing was accompanied by Mrs. Ethel Case. Miss Williams introduced her committee and she introduced the speaker.

Using the common American aversion to poetry as "sissy stuff" for the springboard to launch his entertaining collection of narrative poems, Mr. Webster pointed out that poetry is actually an everyday convenience. He gave as examples its use as a medium for expressing sentiments in song lyrics, and its role as helper in such ordinary things as keeping track of the number of days in the months of the calendar.

From his introductory repertoire of jokes he progressed to his purpose of demonstrating the qualities of poetry as a form of literature worth the considered attention of the audience and his performance of quoting extensively the works of several contemporary poets drew for his effort a special round of appreciative applause.

SERVING ON the committee which made arrangements for the dinner and program besides Miss Williams were Miss Wilson, Mrs. Kirby, Mrs. Florence Dittler, Mrs. Dorcas Shaffer, and Mrs. Anna I. Wright.

The guest list included R. D. Luke, Robert T. Mason, John T. Head, Clayton R. Lehman, Mrs. Catherine S. Raub, Don J. Flach, M. B. Tatham, R. H. Lewis, J. D. Torrance, M. E. Burke, Don E. U.S. Can't Afford Isolationism In Business, Speaker Tells Club

The export market and its effect on the people of Marion was the subject of a talk presented at the regular monthly meeting of the Marion Sales Ad Club Tuesday noon at the Harding Hotel. The speaker was George Howser, export sales manager of the Huber Mfg. Co.

For the past 16 years, he has been associated with export marketing problems, and since 1948 he has served as export manager of the company. He is a graduate of Miami University and the University of Alabama and has traveled widely throughout the world in his business affluences.

$5 Million Exports
The United States cannot afford to be isolationists in the field of business in the future, and must move toward closing the dollar shortage among nations which wish to trade with American industries. Howser told the club members to illustrate his point, he pointed out that exports to all world markets from Marion County alone amount to almost $100 for every resident of the county—a total of approximately $5,000,000 every year. The removal of such a large volume of business from Marion industries would be felt by every businessman and family in the county, he said.

In his talk, he explained many of the problems confronting American industries — and Marion County industries — in dealing with the foreign market, describing in detail some of the key world markets today. He closed Brazu as Americans it looked as if Molotov was filibustering.

Two hours after the Big Four meeting broke up, Grotewohl was on the radio with a long speech demanding an immediate democratic plebiscite to let the Germans decide "whether they wish to live under this dishonorable war-hazardous (EDC) treaty or wish a peace treaty and restored unity."
The East German Parliament quickly said no too with its standard unanimous vote endorsing the scheme.
A depressed band of West German officials who had hoped for better things talked with British Foreign Secretary Eden. Later they had dinner with Dulles and U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant.
One highly placed Western informant said Molotov and the West clearly had failed to link up on any mutually agreeable approach to a peace settlement.

Ike Sends Postmaster Nominations to Senate

Bricker

Senate by a two-thirds vote specifically provided they should become internal law.

George said a majority of those who support his substitute balked at this language and he was not disposed to discuss compromises further. That effectively blocked for the time being a move by Bricker to join forces with George and possibly override the Senate's Republican leadership.

Knowland told the Senate last night the changes he had offered to Bricker's amendment were the result of long study and had not just been "grabbed out of the air."

He said that as soon as there was a break in Senate debate he would call up the first of the series of administration amendments for a vote. It was relatively noncontroversial and its adoption seemed likely.

A test on the next amendment Knowland had in line could show how deep is the split in the Senate. At one stage when compromise prospects were brighter this proposal had been approved by both the White House and Bricker and acquiesced in by George. But the near-compromise did not hold.

This amendment would strike out Bricker's controversial "which clause" reading "A treaty shall become effective as internal law in the United States only through legislation which would be valid in the absence of treaty."

Eisenhower said this would allow the states to repudiate some treaties, but Bricker denied he had any such intention or that it would result.

As a substitute Knowland and other GOP leaders proposed this wording:

"Clause 2 of Article VI of the Constitution of the United States is hereby amended by adding at the end thereof the following: 'Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this clause no treaty made after the establishment of this Constitution shall be the supreme law of the land unless made in pursuance of this Constitution.'"

This was generally aimed at making treaties subject to court review on their constitutionality.

Youths Held In Auto Chase

100-Mile-Per-Hour Speed Is Reported

A 17-year-old Marion youth Lawrence Eugene Cornelius of 364 1/2 S. Prospect St., is being held in the county detention home pending a hearing on charges of reckless operation and driving without a license which were filed in Juvenile Court Wednesday.

Carl Milton Brown, 18, of 287 Latourette St., charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor in the same case was scheduled to be arraigned in Juvenile Court some time today.

The two were arrested early Wednesday morning after they eluded sheriff's deputies and police officers at speeds of close to 100 miles per hour in a chase through the city and into the country, the sheriff's office reported.

They were picked up by sheriff's deputies about three miles west of Meeker on Route 30-S when the car driven by Cornelius and owned by Charles L. Morgan of Marion broke down. Brown was the only passenger in the car.

Cornelius' license has been held by Juvenile Court since last November when he was convicted of driving with insufficient brakes.

His hearing has been set for Feb. 12.

Formal charges were filed in Municipal Court this morning.

Billion in Contracts Offered British by Soviet Government

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russian government today offered to place contracts worth 400 million pounds sterling, ($1,120,000,000), with British industries for delivery from 1955 to 1957.

This offer was transmitted in a memorandum handed by Ivan G. Kabanov, the Soviet minister of foreign trade, to a delegation of 32 British private business men who are visiting Moscow.

The offer concerned a large variety of equipment including tankers, small cargo ships, industrial plant equipment, small electric power stations as well as railroad equipment, floating docks, fish cars and steam boilers.

Accompanying the memorandum the Russians handed over a detailed breakdown of equipment they said they could use.

number of vehicles on the road and the number of miles they traveled reached an all-time high. Thus, the death rate per 100 million vehicle miles was estimated at 7—the lowest rate on record.

Traffic accidents resulted in about 1,350,000 nonfatal injuries. Falls brought death to 20,200 persons 1 per cent fewer than in 1952. Burns cost 6,400 lives, a 4 per cent decrease. Firearms fatalities rose 4 per cent to 2,450. Drownings were unchanged at 6,800.

Accidental deaths showed an increase among the new generation — victims 5 to 24 years old. There was no change in the 25 to 44 age bracket. Decreases were shown for children under 5 and adults over 45.

The estimated economic loss of $9,100,000,000 covers both fatal and nonfatal accidents. It includes wage losses, medical expenses in insurance costs, production delays, damage to equipment and property.

Last year ended with traffic deaths on the upswing. The December total was 3,930. That was 6 per cent higher than in December, 1952.

The National Committee begins a two-day session tomorrow. The high spot will come tomorrow night when President Eisenhower speaks at the annual Lincoln Day banquet at a sports arena.

Women leaders and Young Republicans also are holding strategy sessions and each group is being received at the White House.

To Spend Money in Ohio

The Republican campaign plan calls for concentrating most money and speakers in eight of the 22 states where Democratic senatorial incumbents face re-election and in the 53 districts where Democrats or Republicans won by 5 per cent or less in 1952. Republican senators facing stiff fights also will be given more than usual assistance.

The Republican strategists say their best chances of turning out Senate Democrats will be in Minnesota (Humphrey), Montana (Murray), Iowa (Gillie), Illinois (Douglas), Wyoming (Hunt), Ohio (Burke), New Mexico (Anderson), and Delaware (Frear).

Five File Petitions At Delaware Board

DELAWARE — Five more Republican candidates for nominations in the May 4 primaries filed petitions Tuesday at the Delaware Electo. Board.

Joy Evans of Delaware filed a petition for the commissioner nomination. Evans, Barton and Charles R. Shively of Delaware all seek the post now held by Cloise Barton of Sunbury.

Common Pleas Judge O. W. Whitney and Probate Judge Paul Barrett filed petitions for nomination to their offices. Both will be unopposed for re-nomination and in the November election.

Over Populated By George Sokolsky

The rapid growth of population throughout the world undoubtedly has a pressing effect upon political problems. It is estimated by the Bureau of Census, Inc., that 1953 witnessed the increased population of the world by about 25,000,000. Such statistics can never be altogether accurate because some countries do not keep their population figures in good shape, but the estimates can be made from the facts that are known to be accurate.

It is estimated that in 1850, the population of the world was about 500,000,000; an estimated for 1953 would be 2,500,000,000. The greatest increase has been during the past 100 years, since about 1850.

A conservative estimate, including all possible errors, would indicate that the population of the earth has increased fourfold in 300 years.

THIS MEANS that the birth-rate is more rapid than the death-rate despite wars, accidents, birth-control and other life reducers.

It means at one end, more children, at the other end more old people than earlier societies were accustomed to and therefore it means attractions in social institutions because the middle age groups carry heavier loads of dependents.

In countries in which the mortality rate is high, the population is younger than it is in a country such as ours where a large part of the population lives beyond physical and mental capability and grows increasingly dependent.

This same report shows the vast variations in density of population, which means that some countries, such as Italy and Japan, are literally splitting at the seams.

The effect of that, for instance, is evident in the mass migrations from Puerto Rico, where the density is 652 per square mile while the world average is 47 per square mile. Canada, for example, has a population density of four per square mile.

Inevitably, those who are crowded will seek to move to areas where they can have elbow room, as it were. In some countries, over-population means increasing poverty, perhaps to the point of starvation, as in India.

THE DISTRIBUTION of food has always been unsatisfactory and a cause not only for mass migrations but for wars.

The United States is hoarding butter, cheese, eggs, wheat and other essential foods at a time when many countries lack foods. No device has been found in recorded history for moving food effectively from one area to another except by ordinary methods of commerce.

The current effort in Great Britain to revive the egg as a food may appear humorous to Americans who have eggs in excessive plenty, but it is a serious matter to the British.

Those governments which are faced by excess population in the past have been able to move them, as individuals or families, by emigration.

The United States, for instance, was peopled by immigration. So were Australia and New Zealand. Canada has kept her immigration down in a struggle between Protestants and Catholics for prevalence.

Emigration has become increasingly difficult not so much because of lack of room for the migrants but because many nations have set up a resistance to the dilution of their cultures by constant absorption of aliens of vastly diverse cultures.

In the United States the McCarran immigration law reflects public opinion that immigration should be limited, although this general view is opposed by particular groups who favor more liberal policies toward migrants, particularly such as have been made homeless by current political changes.

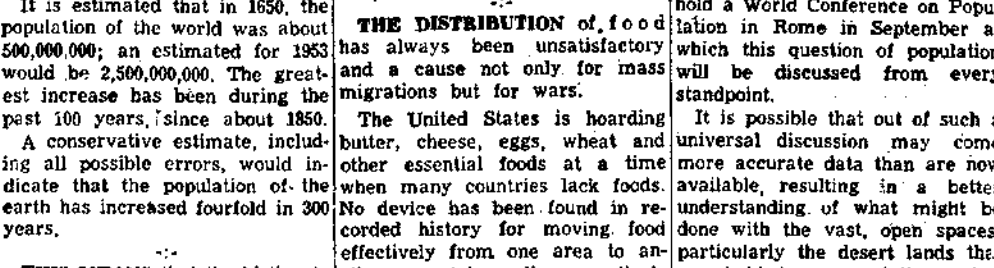

THE UNITED NATIONS is to hold a World Conference on Population in Rome in September at which this question of population will be discussed from every standpoint.

It is possible that out of such a universal discussion may come more accurate data than are now available, resulting in a better understanding of what might be done with the vast, open spaces, particularly the desert lands that can hold huge populations after adequate and costly engineering.

The Russians are doing some work to reclaim the Kara Kum Desert in the Caspian region, but scant information is available about it. I saw an estimate somewhere that this region, if irrigated, could hold 50,000,000 people.

Little is being done with the Sahara, although it is one of the richest mineral areas on earth and could be turned into good farmland as has been done to the deserts of California.

This is a major human problem, because landless and hungry people are always a menace to peace.

Auditor's Post Lone Contest For Crawford

BUCYRUS—Only one May 4 primary contest for Crawford County offices loomed today with two Bucyrus Republicans seeking the auditor nomination.

Earl R. Leonard, who is competing his second term as county commissioner, will be opposed by Richard H. F. Sprow, who is employed in the shipping department of the W. A. Riddell Corp. here.

Earlier Leonard had announced his candidacy for a third term as commissioner. He is secretary of the Moose lodge and a member of the county Republican executive committee. Sprow, who has lived here most of his life, has never been a candidate for public office.

There will be no Democratic primary contests although Democrats will present a full slate for the five county office vacancies. Republicans have no candidate for Common Pleas or Probate Judge.

The complete list of candidates for county offices includes: commissioner, Roy C. Eichhorn, Wheel-

North Main St. at Corporation Limits FINE FOODS and DRINKS Any Time!

Racketeering By Victor Riesel

DETROIT—There is a terrified small businessman in Detroit who believes he may be murdered any time now. His wife has been driven to hysterics. Some of his employees have left him. They wanted no trouble with the muscle men who were presiding over their boss.

All this is in the government's record. The businessman's name is Henry C. Lemke. His address is 1047 E. Grand Boulevard. It's no secret. The boys already know it.

Not too long ago Lemke, who distributes those automatic photograph machines in which a quarter gets you and your girl a picture of a romantic interlude, told congressional investigators that he had not wanted them to question him publicly.

"You are afraid for your life, is that what you told our investigator?" a federal probe asked.

"You've had a lot happen?" Congressman George Bender asked.

"I couldn't have much more happen. My wife is in hysterics right now... That's why I am afraid. I spoke my piece. I didn't want to appear in an open hearing. I am afraid of my life some of these days, gentlemen, I know what has happened."

THIS LITTLE MAN, this distributor of popcorn and photo machines, sat there before the official might of the government of the U.S.—and was frightened.

The congressional committee was sitting in Detroit, investigating unions in the juke box field and billion dollar vending machine industry which now sells everything from soup to nylon hose—a powerful network which reaches into a score of our major cities.

On that special sub-committee to investigate racketeering, sat a congressman who, it seems to me, should have been far more sensitive to this desperate outcry of a man who threw his little fortune into something he hoped would bring him a peaceful living.

That spon is Robert Condon of California. He is the gentleman who, is now screaming so loudly about his own civil rights because he was denied access to the Atomic Energy Commission's experiments in thermonuclear explosions.

I'VE READ of the association between one Angelo Meli, arrested 17 times on charges ranging from kidnapping to murder, and one William Bufalino, head of the "Juke Box Union 985."

I've learned of the money loaned by Meli to Bufalino, whose connections sweep clear across Pennsylvania and on to New York. There is evidence of the harassment of scores of businessmen and the terror under which live and work thousands of union members. Yet the record is bare of Congressman Condon's moral outcries against this blasphemy of other men's civil liberties.

FOR MORE than a week I have been traveling and talking to labor leaders and businessmen. They all more than our flesh and blood. She was our blithe spirit, and she becomes blither every day.

I have no hesitancy in advising any childless couple who can get a baby to adopt them to go and do so at once, and quit postponing paradise. But paradise has a price. Ordinary parenthood will turn the bravest human being into a craven wretch; adopted parents are doubly craven.

In four years of war reporting I learned to condition myself so that I was afraid only when in actual danger. A man who gets the fear and sweats before he goes to the front, or after he comes back and is out of peril, won't last through very many battlefields.

But raising a baby is much more terrifying than working on a battlefield. On a battlefield you know when to be scared—when you can relax. But in raising a child, you live with a tight knot of terror at the back of your brain day and night. So many things can happen.

"Don't worry," the pediatrician says. "Whatever you are doing for this baby, just keep right on doing it. There is absolutely nothing wrong with her."

I guess that is what frightens me. Everything has gone so terribly well for Tracy Ann. Right now she has two upper fangs and two lower fangs bursting out of her deep pink gums, and I must admit does look, when she grins, a bit like a cross between an old grandma and a young alligator.

Nobody can say I ever claimed she was the most beautiful child in the whole wide world; she is merely the loveliest baby in the world she has made for us—

New Baby By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Every time a child is born two cowards are created. They are the parents.

There is nothing like a baby to turn a couple of normally courageous adults into a pair of timorous mice.

Some six months ago a five-week-old lady called Tracy Ann moved a crib into our home and adopted Frances and me. Coming into our life after 18 childless years of marriage, she brightened up the place like a welcome candle in a dark cave.

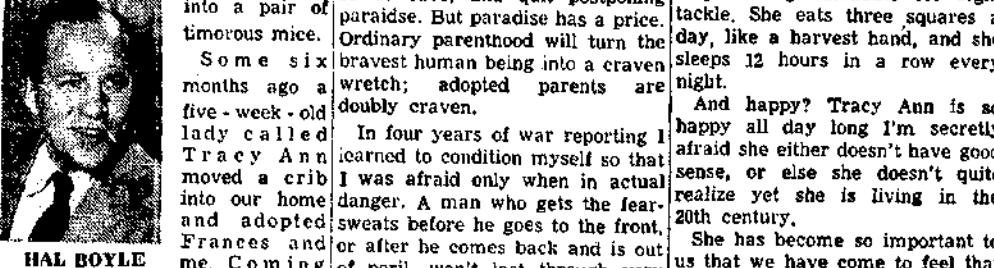

Our life was pleasant enough before. But now it has a shining luster, and it is a wonderful feeling to come home and open the door and be greeted by a small sunrise smile and a trill like a meadowlark.

"Are you sure it won't trouble you that the baby isn't your own flesh and blood?" a cautious friend asked shortly after Tracy Ann decided to be our favorite income tax deduction.

"Trouble us? It is just the other way around. Frankly, it is a relief."

"Baby, we didn't bring you into the world," I feel like telling her. "All we have is the chance to make as nice a world for you as we can, and if we fail you in that, then you got a real right to holler."

When Tracy Ann had been in our house a week, she already was a castle with room just now for the three who share it.

But she is as strong and healthy, pound for pound, as a Percheron. If the Notre Dame football team ever goes co-educational, I've got a promising candidate for right tackle. She eats three squares a day, like a harvest hand, and she sleeps 12 hours in a row every night.

And happy? Tracy Ann is so happy all day long I'm secretly afraid she either doesn't have good sense, or else she doesn't quite realize yet she is living in the 20th century.

She has become so important to us that we have come to feel that maybe for this reason we are more important ourselves. I have taken out extra life insurance, and Frances and I don't just look both ways before crossing a street. We look four ways.

I lift our little tomboy aloft in my two hands, remembering the strong feel of my father's hands as he did the same thing to me so many, many years ago, and tell her:

"Honey, there are moments when I wish you didn't love life quite so much, weren't so terribly healthy, weren't always so good and always so happy, because I am afraid now of how hard you may be hurt later. But if I knew of a single germ anywhere that was plotting to get at you, I'd shoot it with a shotgun."

Tracy Ann just looks down with her gap-gummed grin and babbles, "Ma-ma-ma-ma-ma-ma!"

That shows she is just a crazy, mixed-up kid. But it certainly gives her old man a warm, motherly feeling.

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—While the controversy bubbles over the high price of coffee, New York state has stepped out to market and bought some for 61 cents a pound. It's top-grade coffee, you understand. Telephone Company Installs Equipment in A-Plant

New Dial System Placed Into Operation by Marion Firm

The General Telephone Co. of Ohio, which has main offices in Marion, has placed in operation a completely new automatic dial telephone system at the Atomic Energy Commission plant near Piketon.

The equipment consists of 1,200 lines of modern dial telephone equipment and replaces manual operation that has been in service the last year.

THE SWITCH PLACING the new equipment in service was thrown by C. E. Williams of Marion, president of the telephone company, with officials of the Atomic Energy Commission, Goodyear Atomic Corp., and Peter Kiewit Sons' Co. in attendance. These included Kenneth A. Dunbar, manager, Portsmouth Area, Atomic Energy Commission, A. J. Gracia, plant manager, Goodyear Atomic Corp., George C. Holing, general manager, Peter Kiewit Sons' and H. H. Kenny, chief finance division, Goodyear Atomic Corp.

Heretofore, the entire telephone system at the site has been under the operation of the Peter Kiewit Sons' Co. However, with the advent of the new dial system, partial operation has been transferred to the Goodyear Atomic Corp., which will actually operate the plant for the Atomic Energy Commission as units are completed. For the past few weeks the Goodyear Atomic Corp. has been training their own operators, preparatory to taking over the actual

The new system started operation at the uranium separation plant site last weekend. Watching are (standing from left) A. J. Gracia, plant manager, Goodyear Atomic Corp., George C. operation of the telephone system switchboards. In conjunction with Kiewit, General Telephone will handle the maintenance, repair and up-keep of the new system. The progress of telephone development at the atomic energy site has been one of unique accomplishment, according to Williams. A year ago General provided service by means of a one position, 80 line manual switchboard. Additional positions were added as the increase for service demanded. In June, the company installed 11 operator switchboard positions with a capacity of 900 lines. Today the company is providing service to over 1600 telephones with capacity available for further installations for the anticipated construction peak late this year or early 1955. Incident with the installation of the dial equipment, General Telephone has also installed nine attendants' positions of switchboard and two information positions, which will handle incoming and outgoing calls for the plant. Local calling within the plant consists of direct dialing between telephones. A special telephone directory has been compiled by the Goodyear Atomic IBM Tabulating Department showing the dial numbers for departments and personnel.

The company furnishes 25 long distance lines to Waverly from the Plant Site, two direct lines to Portsmouth, one to Cincinnati, and one to Oak Ridge, all connecting with the new equipment. In addition, there are local lines between the Atomic Energy Site and the communities of Piketon and Waverly.

"The tremendous accomplishment in telephone service at our project has been completed only through the combined efforts and splendid coordination of officials of General Telephone Company of Ohio, Goodyear Atomic Corporation and Peter Kiewit Sons' Company," Dunbar said.

Williams noted that in addition to tremendous requirements at the site, General has also been called upon to meet an influx of service throughout most of Pike County. General Telephone operates four exchanges in the county, Waverly, Beaver, Idaho and Piketon.

In June, General converted the exchanges at Beaver and Idaho from manual operation to fully modern dial systems. At that same time, the dial equipment at Piketon was replaced with that of a much larger capacity.

IN APRIL, General installed at Waverly, the point handling all long distance calling for the county, nine operator positions of long distance switchboards fully equipped with inter-toll dialing features. The latter permits the Waverly operators to dial direct to telephones in some 2,500 communities throughout the nation without the assistance of any intermediary operators.

In June the company installed five operator positions of common battery switchboard to handle local calling for the Waverly exchange. With long distance calling continually on the increase, General Telephone found it necessary to add an additional nine operator positions of long distance switchboard in October. Prior to Atomic Energy Commission the entire service at Waverly, both local and long distance had been handled through three operator positions of magneto switchboards. There are now in service a total of 23 operator switchboard positions. Also in October the company installed an additional 130 lines of dial equipment at Piketon, supplementing the original equipment that had previously been placed in service in June.

The company has also added inter-exchange circuits from Waverly to such points as Columbus, Cincinnati, Chillicothe, Pittsburgh and Portsmouth to facilitate long distance calling.

To accomplish this expansion, the company constructed new central office buildings at all four exchanges, including a $140,000 building at Waverly. Substantial additions to the wire distribution system in the form of cable, poles and open wire have been placed throughout most of the county. One of the major projects was the placement of some seven miles of 200 pair cable between the Waverly office and the atomic energy site.

In the past year General Telephone Company of Ohio has spent more than $1,000,000 in Pike County for service expansion in this vital defense area, Williams stated. "The end is not in sight since requirements for service will still increase, an unquestionable continue to do so for many years to come."

Furniture May Go Modern in Coming Season

CHICAGO (UP) — American home-makers, with an eye on quality rather than price tags, are going modern again in choosing furniture.

That is the view of furniture industry officials at the semi-annual furniture market.

These officials say modern furniture is expected to be slightly more in demand than it has been for two years. At least, a little more modern will be displayed by the 1,250 exhibitors at the show.

Prices are expected to remain the same as last year. But industry officials say the consumers don't appear to be as concerned about prices, as they are about design and quality, regardless of price.

Officials are preparing to meet this buying trend with a variety of new merchandise, patterns and designs—which they expect to be the chief selling point of this year's output.

Some modern furniture will show a little of the Far Eastern influence, with black and white lacquered surfaces.

Two streams of thought seem to prevail in traditional furniture. One is an emphasis on simplicity. The second is the concentration on more-decorative pieces. However, this doesn't mean a return of the bizarre ornateness of the "borax era," in the early part of the century.

The flashy colors and bizarre wood combinations of that era are fading.

American tastes now run to tailored stylings—a trend many officials say is the result of the influence of the sets used in movies and television.

There still is a demand, however, for the French styles such as Louis XIV and Louis XVI. These, along with Hepplewhite and Biedermeier, are expected to be the outstanding types of traditional furniture at the show.

Television manufacturers plan to keep in step with the modern trend. In fact, some are getting ahead of themselves by concentrating on color sets, although color television still is some time away. But the manufacturers plan to lay the groundwork for future sales by showing compatible sets—those which will receive either a black-and-white or color picture.

Retailers expect stiff competition in patterns and designs.

That competition already has led one designer for a modern furniture line to work on a new type of construction which would turn out furniture on an assembly-line basis. Individuality would come from color and fabric usage.

Congress Highlights

Chances Poor for Mail Rate Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chances for approval of the Eisenhower administration's bid for a big mail rate boost are considered no better than even as it comes up before the House Post Office Committee in closed session.

Postmaster General Summerfield has urged rate increases totaling 240 million dollars a year to trim the postal deficit. The issue is politically touchy in an election year like this.

The key item: a proposed 1-cent boost in the present 3-cent cost of sending letters.

Bricker Amendment—Sen. George (D-Ga.) says there is a likelihood the Bricker treaty powers amendment proposal will die in the Senate or return to committee. This, he says, is because the Senate has split into four blocs. Three of the groups favor some kind of an amendment, but disagree on wording. The fourth opposes any amendment.

Economic—Possibly stiff questioning faces Secretary of Agriculture Benson when he discusses with the Senate House Economic Committee the administration's controversial proposal to shift gradually from present rigid, high-level farm price supports to a system of flexible price props.

Taft-Hartley—Republicans on the Senate Labor Committee are said to be thinking of a compromise on President Eisenhower's strike vote idea. It reportedly would require all unions to hold a secret ballot before calling a strike. This would replace the Eisenhower plan for government-supervised strike votes—a plan apparently doomed by opposition of most of the committee.

Statehood—The Senate Interior Committee votes on a bill to make Alaska a state. Approval is probable. Meanwhile, the committee urges the Senate to pass promptly a Hawaii statehood bill.

7 Drivers Stopped By State Patrolmen

Seven persons were arrested Wednesday by state patrolmen from the Marion post.

Charles L. Gordon, 25, of Findlay was arrested for a yellow line violation and not having a driver's license. He was fined $5 and costs on each charge by Mayor Harold Koehler of Upper Sandusky.

Arrested for speeding were Noble R. Skinner, 60, Cardington, fined $25 and costs by Mayor Emory Murphy of Mt. Gilead; Robert C. Campbell, 39, Columbus, fined $25 and costs by Mayor Murphy, and Ted William Schermer, 45, Cleveland Heights, posted bond for appearance in Municipal Court today.

Others arrested were Melvin May, 23, Marengo, not stopping with assured clear distance, cited to appear before Mayor Murphy Monday; Harry C. Barton, 34, Bellevue, Ky., driving left of center, fined $15 and costs by Mayor Murphy, and Albert J. Hoag, 29, Worthington, yellow line violation, posted bond for appearance in Municipal Court Friday.

Grain Quotations

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat had a firm tone at the opening on the Board of Trade today but feed grains and soybeans tended a little lower.

Wheat started 1/4 cent lower to 1/4 higher, March $2.11 1/2, corn unchanged to 1/4 lower, March $1.52 1/2, oats unchanged to 1/4 lower, March 78 1/2, and soybeans 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, March $3.13 1/2-14.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavy buying sent the stock market ahead today for the second straight session.

The rise took the market on average into new high ground for the current recovery movement again today as it did yesterday. Prices were up between 1 and 2 points at the most with the list largely up fractions. Losses were scattered and small.

Among higher stocks were New York Central, Illinois Central, Northern Pacific, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, Philco, Dow Chemical, and Shell Oil.

NYC To Cut Round-Trip Coach Fares on Feb. 15

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Central Railroad said today it will cut round-trip coach fares by about one third between a number of major Ohio cities beginning Feb. 15.

The Central announced for a trial period extending through July 31 these coach fares will be lowered to about 2 1/2 cents a mile from the present rate of about 3 1/3 cents between Cleveland, Cincinnati, Dayton, Springfield, Columbus, Galion and intermediate points.

The Central said the new reduction is a further experiment designed to attract passenger traffic from other means of transportation.

Bellamy Honored By Sigma Delta Chi

CLEVELAND (AP)—Sigma Delta Chi, national journalism fraternity, last night honored Paul Bellamy, editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer for 25 years, and welcomed his successor, Wright Bryan.

Bellamy, now the newspaper's editor emeritus, was given the Distinguished Service Award of the northeastern Ohio professional chapter of Sigma Delta Chi at a dinner to honor the two men.

The award—a scroll—cited Bellamy "for holding aloft throughout his career the high and sacred ideals of the news-gathering profession."

Bryan, who spent 26 years on the Atlanta, Ga., Journal, said the opportunity to follow Bellamy was "sufficient challenge to grip the imagination of any man."

Boy Scout Week Will Open on Sunday

Some 1,114 Marion County boy scouts are preparing to join scouts all over the country in celebration next week of National Boy Scout Week and the 44th anniversary of the founding of the organization.

Feb. 7 through 13 has been set aside to honor scouts and their leaders. Boys from 8 to 21 years, grouped in 42 Marion County packs, troops and explorer units have laid plans to make their week a memorable one.

Special observances will start Sunday when the boys will attend church in uniform, some with their families and others with their units.

MARION COUNTY scouts will be joining 3,300,000 boys and their adult leaders in a national celebration on the theme "Forward on Liberty's Team," seeking to build sound citizenship.

Great names lead the parade of 21 million men and boys who have been associated with the Boy Scouts of America since its founding in 1910. William Boyce, a Chicago publisher, was so impressed by the courtesy and spirit of service of a uniformed English boy he met on his travels that he started the boy scout movement in America. Boyce interested, among others, James E. West and Daniel Beard who arranged to have the organization chartered by Congress Feb. 8, 1916, one of three such

DURING THE WEEK scout units will place displays in store windows as they have done in the past. Each pack, troop and explorer unit will plan and present its display on a specific theme, such as craft work, merit badges, advancement or emergency service.

Each window will be judged on a 50 point basis and ribbons will be awarded, blue for first, red for second and white for third. Displays will be judged for aptness of theme, public appeal, general appearance, inclusion of unit sponsor identification and the American flag, and boy handicraft work. Ten extra points will be given for a live demonstration. Since the judging will be done on a point basis, it is possible for every display to get a blue ribbon. Judges will be Dr. T. Gray, John Baxter and Eugene White, all active in scout work. Awards will be made at the regular March roundtable meeting in each district.

THURSDAY NIGHT will see the highlight of Boy Scout Week when the fellowship dinner will be held at the Epworth Methodist Church. The 6:30 covered dish dinner will be for every registered volunteer of the Marion County and Morrow County districts and their wives. Volunteers of North District (Crawford and Wyandot Counties) are invited guests. Emphasis this 44th celebration is on leader recognition. Round-up awards will be given. A Western Round-up was held from September through December in which scout units "mortgaged" their unit for a certain number of "mavericks" or new members. So, at the dinner three sheephead awards will be presented, one to each type scout unit having the highest percentage increase during the round-up. Twenty-five frying pan awards will be given to those paying off the "mortgage" by Dec. 31, and 15 special branding iron awards will be presented to those who paid off the "mortgage" by Dec. 10. Awards will be presented by Karl Bechtel, council commissioner and "range rider" of the round-up.

A special recognition ceremony is planned for all scouts. Guest speaker will be M. L. (Johnny) Johnson, scout executive of the Buckskin Council at Charleston, W. Va. Eugene White is chairman of the fellowship dinner committee. Mrs. R. T. Gray is chairman of the physical arrangements committee. Sam Babich will be master of ceremonies, and Howard Ziegler is in charge of the recognition ceremonies.

16 Airmen Get Lift From Europe on Presidential Plane

WASHINGTON — On orders from President Eisenhower, 16 Air Force enlisted men on leave got a surprise ride back to the United States from Germany the other day.

It was Jan. 23 and Lt. Col. William G. Draper, Eisenhower's Air Force aide and pilot of the presidential plane Columbine, was returning to this country after flying Secretary of State Dulles and his party to the Big Four conference in Berlin.

Carrying out instructions from Eisenhower, Draper made a stop at Frankfurt, Germany, and took aboard the group of Air Force men headed for the United States on leave. They arrived in Washington that night.

Men flown back from Frankfurt included these Ohioans: 1st Sgt. Anthony J. Nardelli of Campbell, and T. Sgt. Robert B. Heston of Mount Vernon.

Lodge at Bucyrus Honors Physician

BUCYRUS—Dr. W. G. Carlisle, who has been a physician in Bucyrus for the past 40 years, was guest of honor at a banquet Wednesday night at the Moose home under sponsorship of the lodge.

The banquet was in recognition of 40 years of service to the community as a local physician and 38 years' membership in the lodge. Dr. Carlisle, 65, began his general practice here in 1914 following his graduation from Johns Hopkins Medical School in Baltimore, Md. He also is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University at Delaware. For many years he has served as city health commissioner and at present he also acts as physician at the Crawford County Home, east of here.

The principal address was given by Albert Giles of Columbus, a past state president of the Ohio Moose Association. J. D. Sears Sr., Bucyrus attorney, was toastmaster, and C. U. Ahi, Bucyrus attorney and former Common Pleas judge, introduced Dr. Carlisle.

2 Car Traffic Crash Kills 2, Hurts 10 in Hamilton County

CINCINNATI — A mother and her son were killed and 10 others injured yesterday in an automobile collision at a road intersection which was the scene of more accidents in 1953 than any other spot on Hamilton County roads.

The intersection is where Kemper road crosses U.S. 25, north of Sharonville.

When the two automobiles collided workmen were at the scene installing traffic lights.

Mrs. Sarah Sewell, 55, of Hollonville, Ky., and her son, Frank, 19, of Dayton, were injured fatally. Driver of the other car was John Cobb, 19, of Lexington, Ky.

State Highway Patrolmen said Sewell apparently failed to yield the right of way to Cobb at a stop sign at the intersection.

COFFEELESS WEDNESDAY
TOLEDO, Ohio (U) — Coffeeless Wednesday—the first since Mayor Olie Czelusta asked Toledoans to abstain from the brew on Wednesday until coffee prices dropped—was not much of a success, city officials admitted. Few paid any attention to the mayor's plea. A survey of restaurants indicated one man, for instance, expressed indignation when he learned a restaurant was serving coffee. But then he ordered two cups.

Gunman Held After Shooting 3 in Hollywood
Ex-Caretaker Gives Self Up Following Confession to Priest

HOLLYWOOD (U) — Three persons were shot and wounded in a Hollywood hotel last night and three hours later heavily armed police closed in on the Wadsworth Veterans Hospital and cornered a gunman while he was admitting the shooting to a Catholic priest.

While the gunman, identified as Albert Markle, 32, held a gun and talked with the priest for an hour and a half, 15 officers armed with rifles and tear gas bombs arrived at the hospital and stationed themselves outside the priest's office.

Police Sgt. Al Barr said the officers kept Markle covered but waited while he talked for fear of injuring the priest. Father Frederick Lamb Jr., hospital chaplain, and another man, Lt. F. W. Green of the hospital police force, who was in the room.

"We were just going to give him another two minutes to surrender his gun when he finally turned it over to Green," said Barr.

Markle was handcuffed after surrendering his gun and then booked on suspicion of attempted murder. Detectives said that earlier in the evening he had appeared at a small Hollywood hotel, pointed a gun at George Lawless, 58, a male nurse and demanded to see a Mrs. Juanita Simmons, 41. Lawless said he took Markle to Mrs. Simmons' room, where her invalid father, Charles Piers, 80, also was present.

Lawless said Markle formerly had been a caretaker at the hotel and also had acted as a nurse for Piers. He said Markle brandished his gun when he arrived in the room, argued over the selection of TV programs and became enraged.

Police said Mrs. Simmons told Markle "We know you've been drinking. Al, leave us alone and go away."

Lawless told detectives that Markle then fired three shots at Mrs. Simmons as she stood up and four shots at himself and Piers. Mrs. Simmons was seriously hurt with two wounds in the stomach. Piers and Lawless were shot in the legs.

Detectives said Markle then took a taxi and went to the Wadsworth hospital in West Los Angeles.

A receptionist at the hospital told police that when Markle entered he demanded to see a priest and said "I just killed three people. Do you think I'm kidding?"

Sweet Yeast Bread Makes Nut Crisps

Winner of Second Prize
In National Contest Is A Perfect Recipe

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A good cook gets her reward! Mrs. Joseph E. Terrill of Burlington, Kan., experimented and achieved what she thought was a perfect recipe for a sweet yeast bread Judges of Pillsbury's recent 5th National Recipe and Baking Contest agreed, and awarded Mrs. Terrill the second prize of $7,500 for her recipe.

We pressed our 15-year-old nephew into service when we tried Mrs. Terrill's Cinnamon Nut Crisp. After we had made the dough and cut it into one inch slices as directed, he had a lot of fun placing the slices on a sugared board and rolling them out thin. Naturally, when the crisps came out of the oven he was one of our best tasters. Older tasters voted these individual coffee cakes especially good for dunking!

CINNAMON NUT CRISPS

Ingredients 1 cake compressed yeast or 1 package active dry yeast, 1/2 cup lukewarm water, 2 eggs (well beaten), 1 cup lukewarm cream, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 4 1/2 to 5 cups sifted flour, 4 tablespoons butter (melted), 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 3/4 cup blanched almonds or other nuts (finely chopped), 1-3 cup raisins (chopped), extra sugar.

Method: Soften yeast in water. Mix eggs, cream, 3 tablespoons sugar, salt, vanilla and the softened yeast. Gradually add flour, blending thoroughly after each addition to make a stiff dough. Knead on well-floured board for 2 to 3 minutes until smooth. Place in greased bowl and cover tightly. Bodies of Four Found in Home

SWEET YEAST BREAD. Prize winner found it perfect.

Unexplained Deaths
Probed in W. Virginia

WELLSBURG, W. Va. (AP) — Brooke County authorities attempted to determine today what caused the death of four persons whose decomposed bodies were discovered in a home at nearby Beech Bottom last night.

Sheriff Thomas Boyd said the three men and a woman apparently had been dead for several days when they were found in a home overheated by a gas fire. He identified them as:

William (Shorty) Craft, 55, father of Philadelphia Eagles professional football player Russ Craft.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Lane, 46 and 41, respectively, of Freedom, Pa.

Lucius B. Davis, 65, a roomer in the Lane home.

Brooke County Coroner C. R. Megahan ordered the bodies removed to Weirton General Hospital for investigation.

The bodies were discovered about 6 p. m. yesterday when a neighbor, Ernest Simmons, peered through a window and saw the body of a man slumped over the kitchen table.

Mortuary attendants said death possibly could have been due to gas asphyxiation although the gas heating stove still was burning when they arrived.

The Lane couple and Davis had begun a visit with Craft on Sunday. In addition to Russ, Craft is survived by another son, "Mac" who operates a Weirton gas station with his brother, and three daughters. Mrs. Dorothy Palmer of Beech Bottom and Mrs. Jean Kosky and Mrs. Peggy Kosky of Wheeling, who married brothers. Mrs. Lane also is survived by two daughters, Judith Ann Smith, 16, and Catherine Smith, 11, both of Freedom, and Lane by his mother in Gallipolis, Ohio.

'Comedy of Errors' No Joke to OSU Speech Professor

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There were two audiences to see the Ohio State University Theatre Shakespearean production last night.

Prof. W. Hayes Yeager, head of the university speech department, said he sold the entire house for last night's show to the Columbus branch of the American Assn. of University Women last year. An assistant, unaware of the sellout, sold the entire house again last week.

Both groups showed up last night. The university in a quandary scheduled a special performance for Saturday to accommodate those who couldn't be seated.

The play Comedy of Errors of course.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House and Senate have passed and sent to the White House a bill to create 30 additional federal district and circuit court judgeships including a district judgeship in northern Ohio.

Communists Building Up Large Far East Air Force

TOKYO (AP) — The combined Communist air forces in the Far East—Russian, Chinese, and North Korean—totals over 6,500 warplanes more than twice the size of the Far East Air Forces of the United States, says Gen. O. P. Weyland, FEAF's head man, in an interview, put Chinese and North Korean strength at 2,000 combat planes, and said the Russians have at least 4,500 more based near Vladivostok, on Sakhalin and in the Kurile Islands.

"A preponderant number of these Soviet planes are fighters," Weyland went on, "but recently the Russians have converted many of their light bomber units to jets with the capability of reaching anywhere in Japan."

"They have enough of these bombers to constitute a good wall, especially if they are carrying the atomic weapon."

"The Russians have converted about 85 per cent of their fighters to jets. These are fighter interceptors, primarily to guard their bases from attack."

"Likewise they have improved their bombers. They are replacing their old medium bomber the Tu2 with an IL28, which is something like our B45. It is a fast jet with the capability of reaching anywhere in Japan or Korea."

"The Communist air force has not increased in numbers in the last year or two so much as it has improved its planes."

He said the airfields around Vladivostok make up the largest complex of bases in the world.

In addition to the jet bombers he said, the Russians have "an impressive number" of TU4s which were copied from one of three of our B29s which made forced landings on Russian soil during World War II and were never returned.

"That amount of aircraft constitutes a definite threat in the Far East," he said, "but all we can do is sit and wait and watch."

Weyland is tall and handsome in the air force tradition. He is a master of morale. I've visited his air bases all over Korea and the airmen and officers alike say no one inspires leadership and esprit de corps like the boss.

He says there is no doubt in his mind but that the Communists have brought jets into their Korean air bases, contrary to the armistice.

"Of course they have brought jets into Korea," he declared emphatically. "But even if they hadn't, they were given the right to build up their bases anyway

First Time in Trouble

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Robert James Franks, 17, pleaded guilty to car theft before District Judge Langston G. King and received five years for stealing six cars.

King, noting the youth was wearing remnants of a military uniform, asked:

"Are you a soldier?"

"No, sir, judge," Franks replied. "This is the first trouble I've ever been in."

Town Clerk Florence Rankin said Sullivan's was a correction. The others she said apparently just never got around to recording their births.

Barons Dump Toledo 3-1, Take Over Second Place

Win Gives Marion 1-Point Edge; Ken Schultz Ejected

By GARY SAMS

Marion's Barons, led by Wimpy Jones and Gordon Vejprava nudged past Toledo's Mercuys into second spot in the International Hockey League race with a 3-1 win over the visitors last night on the Coliseum ice before 1,876 fans.

The win gave Marion 56 points in the IHL, one more than Toledo, and ended Toledo's long reign as the runner-up team in the league. The locals protect their newly-acquired lead tonight at Troy.

The combination of Vejprava and Wimpy Jones clicked for the first two Marion goals, giving Marion a 2-0 bulge. Vejprava scored the clinching goal in the third period.

Only seven penalties were called in the game but there were two fights and a Baron was banished from the game in the third period on two misconduct penalties.

Lou Crowdis, returning from a short stint with the parent Cleveland Barons club, had a shutout in the first 9:35 of the third period when John Kovich batted one in to slim the Baron lead to 2-1.

In all, goalie saves were almost even. Toledo's Bill Tibbs batted away 28 Baron tries while Crowdis was credited with 27 saves.

The opening period was uneventful until the 17:47 mark when Wimpy Jones notched the first of his two goals. Vejprava, back in the lineup after suffering a twisted knee in the Cincinnati game last week, carried the puck all the way from his own end down the left side of the ice, then passed across to Jones who pushed in the short shot past Tibbs.

Toledo was a man down at the time. Jack Novak was sent to the penalty box at 15:49 for roughing. He had roughed Kenny Schultz of the Barons in a fight for the puck against the boards and had to be broken apart from Schultz before being sent to the penalty box.

Although there was no scoring in the second period, fans saw some action when a fight, resulting in penalties to three men, developed at the 15:20 mark. Toledo Coach Doug McCaig and the Barons Phil Vitale began slugging it out at the Marion goal and after both teams gathered around the fight and the two principals were broken apart several times by Referee Ron Hudson and Linesman Ed Sabe, both men were sent to the penalty box on roughing penalties. Vitale also drew two-minute high sticking penalty and Toledo's Chuck Wood was charged with high sticking.

Later in the period at the 16:49 mark, Marion lost a goal when the officials said Hal Jones had been in the goal crease after the puck bounced into the Toledo net following a scramble.

A man short during the final minutes of the period and with Toledo trying desperately to score, the locals ate up the time.

Marion got its second goal shortly after two minutes had gone by the boards in the third and final period. Jones punched his second goal past Tibbs after taking a pass from Vejprava. Vejprava had carried the puck all the way down the ice, passed it over to Jones who shot it in from 15 feet out at the 2:26 mark.

Toledo's lone goal came seven minutes later at the 9:35 mark.

Kovich, on an assist from Roy Hammond, pumped the puck from the right side through Crowdis.

Marion lost the services of Schultz moments later when he argued with the officials following a scramble at the Toledo net. He was given a ten-minute misconduct penalty at the 11:07 mark, then a game misconduct penalty only 16 seconds later for protesting too bitterly.

The final Baron goal came at 13:02 and again Vejprava figured in the score. His shot from 10 feet out glanced off Tibbs hand and into the Toledo net. Dutch Delmonte and Steve Brklacich assisted on the play.

Watching the game as spectators were Marion's Ted Lebioda and Toledo's Billy Booth. Both were sitting out suspensions from a fight in a previous Toledo clash. It mark's Toledo's final appearance here and was only the third victory in seven starts for the Barons against the Mercuys. Final game between the two clubs is Saturday night at Toledo.

'LITTLE MO' HONORED town Jets. His transfer to the Jets established a new mark for playing with different teams in a single season. He has now been with five of the nine clubs in the league.

Del started the season in Marion and moved to Louisville before being picked up by Toledo's Mercuys. He then moved into the camp of the Milwaukee Chiefs before the transfer to Pennsylvania. Troy and Grand Rapids braced for the stretch run with a straight player deal earlier this week. The Bruins traded Wingman Jack Lindsay to the Rockets for Don Crawford. To replace Crawford at the center slot in one of their lines, the Rockets brought up Dave Broadbelt from Sarnia, Ont.

The Fort Wayne Komets will be playing under a new coach when the Barons tangle with them Sunday and Tuesday. Pat Wilson, a former coach and star in the Ontario Hockey Association, has succeeded Jack Timmins, who will remain in action with the Komets.

Art Stone, 22-year-old Cleveland Baron center, also has been added by the Komets management.

Wilson has had more experience in front line action but also is a stalwart on defense and may play in both spots for the Fort Wayne club. Komets officials already have announced he will be back to direct the club next season.

Negotiations for the signing of Wilson were started in January when the Komets went into a lengthy slump. He has been watching and studying the club in action for the last two weeks and has indicated more deals to come for the Komets.

Meanwhile Marion fans continue hoping for the return of Jerry Prince for action in the playoffs. Prince has been out of action for two months with a banged-up leg but club officials indicate he may be back this month. The cast came off Tuesday and he was to undergo further treatment at Toronto.

Only other worry for Marion fans are the long glances being cast this way by the parent Cleveland Barons. The Cleveland club has been taking its lumps recently and could use some help from the high-flying Marion farm.

Art Hunter Signed
GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay Packer Coach Lisle Blackbourne last night announced the signing of his No. 1 draft choice, tackle Art Hunter of Notre Dame.

Hunter, 21, lives in Akron, Ohio, where he won 7 high school letters, 2 in baseball, 2 in football and 3 in basketball.

HE TRIES ON LEAHY'S SHOES. The old master, Frank Leahy (left), gives a few words of advice to his newly-named successor, Terry Brennan, before the latter formally stepped into his shoes as Notre Dame's head football coach at a luncheon in South Bend. Leahy paid tribute to his assistants who, he said, "deserved all the credit." Brennan said, "This is something you hope and pray for."

Mantle's Knee Approved for Spring Session

NEW YORK (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves, after recently obtaining Danny O'Connell from the Pittsburgh Pirates and then acquiring Bobby Thomson and Sam Calderone from the New York Giants, continued to hog the "hot stove league" spotlight today.

Thomson wasted little time in reaching a salary agreement yesterday by phone with General Manager John Quinn.

The best guess was that he would receive close to $35,000, which would make him one of Milwaukee's highest salaried players.

Veteran catcher Walker Cooper, a 13-year National League veteran, was placed on the waiver list by the Braves.

The New York Yankees didn't figure in any transactions, but Mickey Mantle's right knee was back in the news again. The 22-year-old outfielder underwent a knee operation in Springfield, Mo., and his physician advised that he would be ready for spring training if he doesn't try to do "too much, too soon."

The Brooklyn Dodgers brought their list of contented players for 1954 to 18 with the announcement that they had signed three more pitchers—Preacher Roe, Erv Faubus and Ben Wade.

Other players who agreed to terms yesterday included: catcher Wes Westrum, second baseman Ron Sanford, outfielder Ray Berns and first baseman Gall Harris; Giants; pitcher Bob Rush, Cubs; outfielder Jim Rivera, White Sox; infielder-outfielder Vic Power and pitcher Ed Monahan, Athletics; outfielders Hoot Evers and Charles Maxwell, infielder Ted Lepico and pitcher Bill Werle, Red Sox; outfielder Gene Hermanski and pitcher Cal Hogue and Vernon Thies, Pirates; pitcher Duane Pillette and Rocky Krsnich and pitcher Herm Wehmeier, Redlegs; outfielders Gil Coan and Kite Thomas and catcher Joe Tipton, Senators.

Selvy To Start Work on New Scoring Mark

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Selvy of Furman is now concentrating on dispelling any lingering doubts about his rights to the title of the greatest scorer in the history of major-college basketball.

Leading the country with a 38.3 points-per-game average, Selvy plays tonight at Madison Square Garden against Manhattan with two chief personal objectives in mind.

One is "atonement." In last year's game at the Garden, Manhattan not only held him to 15 points, but his split-second delay before putting the ball through the hoop right after the final buzzer left Furman with a one-point defeat instead of a one-point victory.

The other is to continue closing in on the point totals of the only three men who have scored more than he has in major competition. And all needed four years and many more games to compile their figures, compared to Selvy's two-and-a-half seasons and 64 games to date.

NCAA Service Bureau statistics show Selvy already holds the point record for a third-year career, with 1,904, surpassing the 1,888 Clyde Lovellette scored for Kansas in 77 games.

Still to be caught are Jim Lacy, who made 2,154 in 119 games for Loyola of Baltimore; Chet Giermak, who made 1,970 in 104 games for William and Mary; and Tony Lavelli, who scored 1,944 in 96 games for Yale.

Tribe's Flag Chances Good Despite Lack of Big Swaps

Greenberg Confident

The Cleveland Indian will be in the thick of the fight for the American League pennant again this year, according to Hank Greenberg, general manager of the team.

Greenberg told a gathering of sportswriters and broadcasters last night at Mansfield the Indians had to be counted as a top contender despite the lack of trades he has been able to swing. He urged the group to "let the results speak for themselves" and pointed out the Indians have been a winning team for the past five years and could slip through to the pennant should the Yankee stars develop trouble.

He was speaking at the annual press party for north central Ohio. Greenberg was accompanied to the Mansfield meeting by Nate Wallick, director of publicity. Mel Harder, Luke Easter and Ed Edwards who, with Jimmy Dudley, will handle the play-by-play accounts of the Tribe's games.

Greenberg went on to say the Cleveland fans wanted a pennant in "the worst way" and he was attempting to do his part in fulfilling that wish. He added the players, club owners and front office staff wanted one even more than the fans. He said the biggest problem facing the Indians was the matter of picking up about five games over their figure of the last three years.

"It's not a discouraging picture," he added. Newcomers to the club could be the key, he indicated. Rocky Nelson at first base and Dick Tomanek, pitcher called from Indianapolis figure highly in the 1954 plans. The pitcher solves one big gap with the Tribe in that he gives it much-needed southpaw pitching help. At the present time, Art Houtteman also figures high in the Indians' plans. Harder described the 26-year-old hurler as a man with all the physical equipment and one ready to hit his major league stride.

Harder spoke highly of Jake Stryker of Sulphur Springs, a farm hand of the Indians. Jake was a guest at the dinner. "We'll hear a lot of Jake in the next couple of years," Harder said. He also went on record as thinking Cleveland's chances at the pennant were good. One key to the outcome of the race could be the condition of Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds of the Yankee mound corps. Should that pair continue to be plagued by back troubles, the Tribe could walk in, Harder indicated.

Wallick spoke mainly on the arrangements being made for the approaching season. He assured fans in this area of improved ticket arrangements and better facilities at the stadium.

County League Basketball Season To Close Friday

Drawings for Tournament Will Be Held After Sessions

Marion County cage quintets appear in their final basketball action of the year prior to the county tournament Friday.

Morral and Prospect, both deadlocked for top spot with identical 8-1 slates, will be bidding to finish as co-champions.

Prospect is expected to encounter little difficulty in last-place Marietta, 0-9, on the Bulldogs floor but Morral may find rough sledding in its final league date.

Coch Vern Hensels Wildcats will be entertained by second-place Claridon, 7-2. Morral will be on the rebound after losing last week to Prospect. Claridon only losses were to Prospect 60-51 and Meeker 39-36.

Meanwhile, LaRue and Meeker, both tied for third spot with 6-3 marks, will be attempting to retain their positions or even advance in the standings.

Meeker will be at Green Camp, 2-7, while LaRue will travel to Pleasant, 3-6. Both are expected to notch victories at the expense of the second-division clubs. Meeker has gone through its county league schedule with only losses to Morral 65-44, Caledonia 54-51 and Prospect 65-43 marring its record. LaRue has lost league tilts to Meeker 50-51, Morral 72-48 and Claridon 39-47.

The remaining league contest will find Waldo, in fourth spot in the league with a 4-5 mark, at New Bloomington. The hosts, with a 3-6 log, are deadlocked with Pleasant for fifth spot in the standings, just a step ahead of Caledonia, 3-7, which has completed its regular season, and Green Camp.

Final game of the regular season for Marion County fives before the county tournament will be Saturday night when Claridon

Anderson Gets Renewed Pact At Holy Cross

WORCESTER, Mass. (U)—While conceding that the Eastern intercollegiate football outlook is "not bright," Holy Cross has given Dr. Eddie Anderson, its head coach, a new five-year contract to replace the one that would expire after the 1934 season.

The Very Rev. John A. O'Brien S. J., president of Holy Cross, said: "We are pleased and proud we are assured of Dr. Anderson's services for at least five more years. In my opinion, he is second to none among football coaches."

Father O'Brien emphasized that Holy Cross has no intention of dropping intercollegiate football.

"It has too many important values for all colleges, large and small, and especially for a predominantly residential college such as ours," he explained.

"Unfortunately the outlook for intercollegiate football, especially for the so-called independent and nonconference teams in the East, such as Holy Cross, is not bright."

"And it doesn't make sense to plan indefinitely on fielding a representative football team trained by a high-grade coach if it seems certain you cannot schedule suitable opponents in your area."

Anderson coached at Holy Cross from 1933 to 1938 before taking over at the University of Iowa. He returned here in 1930.

Athletic Director Eugene F. Flynn said Holy Cross has been approached by Syracuse to join a nine-team conference that also would include Boston College, Boston University, Colgate, Rutgers, Penn State, Pittsburgh and Fordham.

"We are certainly inclined to join such a group," Flynn said.

Buckeyes Continue As Scoring Leaders

CHICAGO (U)—Ohio State's Buckeyes, who have climbed to eighth place in the Big Ten basketball race, continue to set the conference scoring pace in all team departments.

Official statistics show they still are No. 1 in hitting field goals by making .403 per cent of their shots.

They are last on defense, yielding opponents an average of 83 points.

Other field goal percentage leaders are Iowa with .393, Indiana .374 and Minnesota .371. In the free throw department, Wisconsin has .677, Indiana .670 and Michigan .669.

Trabert, who became embroiled in a series of disputes in Australia with Aussie tennis fans and officials, planned to register at the University of Cincinnati and start basketball practice immediately.

Trabert, who played on the UC basketball team in the 1930-31 season, is classed as a second term junior.

He dropped out of school in 1931 to enter the Navy.

MAC Rules 10 Are Ineligible For Kent State

KENT, Ohio (U)—Commissioner David E. Reese of the Mid-American Conference has ruled 10 members of the Kent State University basketball team ineligible for further conference competition.

The ruling announced yesterday is the result of one Kent player, Dan Potopsky, playing with the Independence High alumni team during the Christmas vacation period, the commissioner said.

In addition to declaring the players ineligible, the decision also causes Kent to forfeit its only conference victory, an 80-73 win over Western Reserve.

Kent State immediately filed a protest against the ruling which was prompted by a complaint from Western Reserve.

Western Reserve's protest was based on a section of the conference code which declares that team members may not play on amateur teams not connected with their college until after the end of the season.

Trabert To Begin Basketball Drilling

CINCINNATI (U)—Tony Trabert, Cincinnati's Davis Cup tennis star, was due home today to make a fast switch from tennis to basketball.

Trabert, who became embroiled in a series of disputes in Australia with Aussie tennis fans and officials, planned to register at the University of Cincinnati and start basketball practice immediately.

Trabert, who played on the UC basketball team in the 1930-31 season, is classed as a second term junior.

He dropped out of school in 1931 to enter the Navy.

Runs No Risk of Alienating Senate

Ike Skillful in Handling Of Bricker Amendment

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is like a man who needs the help of his neighbors at harvest time and has to be careful he doesn't make them mad when they get a notion to trample his flower bed.

He could run them off with a shotgun when they come trooping into his front yard, heading for the flowers. But then they might not come when he called them to get the crops in.

Or he could stand his ground, saying pleasantly but firmly "Please, don't." They couldn't get mad at that. They might even get into an argument about their whole expedition and walk off with out bending a daisy.

Eisenhower has seldom relied on a shotgun. A good example is his handling of the Bricker amendment.

Needs Plenty of Help

It was clear when Eisenhower took over last year that in a Congress as evenly divided as this one between Democrats and Republicans he'd need all the help he could get from both sides to put his program over.

From what is publicly known about his relations with the lawmakers he has never given any of them reason to be mad at him on personal grounds as former President Truman sometimes did. He has had some vigorous encounters on issues, as he did with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), but kept them on an impersonal plane.

It remains to be seen whether this studied consideration for people's feelings can rally to him all the support he will need on legislation he most wants passed.

He started off the year well. The Senate approved United States cooperation with Canada on the St. Lawrence seaway, a project which for 20 years never got to first base in the Senate.

Unusual Support

There was unusual support—63 senators at one time—behind the proposal of Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) to amend the Constitution in a way that would restrict the extent of treaties made by the President with the Senate's consent and provide for congressional regulation of executive agreements made by the President himself with other countries. Several times last year Eisenhower said he was against the particular amendment Bricker was suggesting.

When debate was set to begin in January, Eisenhower flatly and publicly came out against the amendment but not against Bricker. He said the proposal would tie his hands in foreign affairs.

Some Bricker critics thought Eisenhower should have pulled a shotgun right there by refusing to make any concessions, thus forcing the Senate to choose between him and the Bricker group.

Eisenhower might have won crushing all the Bricker amendment talk. Also he might have lost if enough senators had decided this was as much a contest between the White House and Senate as it was between Eisenhower and an amendment.

Win or lose the result probably would have been a pool of bitterness deep enough to drown some of Eisenhower's projects when they reached the Senate later.

Moderate Course

He chose a more moderate course making it impossible for anyone to say he was unreasonably stubborn. He said he'd compromise, that if the senators really thought some kind of amendment was needed he wouldn't object to one that said no treaty could override the Constitution.

That in the view of some anti-amendment people, would only be stating what is already obvious and therefore be harmless and meaningless. This moderate stand of Eisenhower, whether he foresaw it or not, got fast results.

It tumbled a bunch of Bricker's supporters off his bandwagon and practically killed his amendment. At once, almost, the Senate got into confused debate about a compromise or perhaps, no amendment at all.

Before the argument subsides the Senate may give up the whole idea and walk off leaving Eisenhower still in full possession of his presidential front yard and with no one very mad at him, publicly, at least.

Exuberance Costly, West Virginian Finds

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — Two months ago while trying a difficult pool shot Walter Floto broke his cue and the splintered end cut his hand. Five stitches were required.

Last Sunday Floto became excited when a member of his bowling team missed a triple-header strike by one pin. He grabbed hold of a wall coat hanger somehow got entangled and pulled the hanger loose. He fell and broke a wrist. "I guess I'm just too exuberant," Floto said.

Scout Program Held

A "family night" party was held by Troop 10, Boy Scouts, sponsored by the North Main Street School PTA, Monday night at the school. A potluck supper was followed by a social hour and program. Included in the program were special music by Tony Drury, Robert Gherman and Gary Tumbleson, Scouts and a film. About 65 guests were present. In charge of the program were Walter Wolbert, committee chairman, Harold Van Houten, committeeman, and Robert Gorenflo, Scoutmaster.

Thoroughfare Runs in Wrong Direction So It's Beale Avenue

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — Out-faith unloose the ancient muscles, riders may know Beale Street as this city's most famous thoroughfare, but to city officials it's not a street.

W. C. Handy, "father of the blues," made Beale famous with his "Beale Street Blues." The street as here Handy wrote his top tunes and there's a park named after Handy fronting on Beale.

To tourists, Beale Street is a must spot. To suburban Negroes, Beale is a place of perpetual gaiety.

To old-timers and even the younger hepheads, it's Beale Street, and always will be.

But to city officials, it's Beale Avenue. They don't have anything against Handy or his beloved street. It's just that Beale isn't headed in the right direction.

Beale begins on the riverfront and runs eastward for about eight blocks — the most famous eight blocks in Memphis.

It's labeled an avenue now because of that east-west direction. Only thoroughfares that run north and south now bear the "street" designation here.

Beale, of course, has changed somewhat with the times, but in many essentials it is the same. Hand-pulled wooden carts are still part of the traffic stream; ancient autos are parked there along with the latest models. The top-hatted pawnshop barkers of an earlier day are gone, but the pawnshops are still in business.

It retains its old air of being an exciting place, especially on Saturday nights.

Mayor Frank Tobey recently mentioned "Beale Street" in a speech and said he thinks that name should be restored.

It was made an avenue about 10 years ago, but the markers are the only things in Memphis that say "Beale Avenue."

George Lee, a Negro leader known as the "Boss of Beale," had this to say about the name change in a letter to city officials:

"The name Beale Street to them (Beale Streeters) is where joy and hope bend down and the twin whispers of encouragement and against despair.

"Sir, a law changing the name of Wall Street to Wall Avenue, or the course of a stream on the brink of a precipice would have just as much chance as one changing Beale Street to Beale Avenue."

Mystery of Ammunition Cache Solved by Porter

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP) — Workmen excavating a site for a new building here thought they had uncovered the scene of a terrific battle when their shovels brought up odd-shaped ammunition and artillery shells.

Isaac Carnes, a bank porter, solved the mystery. Carnes said he had been hired as a boy to bury the ammunition in the cellar of a home which had stood on the site. It was a private collection of shells from the Civil War and the Spanish-American War.

97 Accidents Occur in City During Month

Seriousness and number of traffic accidents on Marion city streets remained about the same last month as for January, 1953.

In a monthly summary of traffic accidents issued today, Police Chief Thomas Coon points out that there was one fatality last month while a year ago there were no fatal accidents.

Total number of accidents and persons injured changed only slightly with 12 persons hurt in 97 mishaps this year and 10 hurt in 96 accidents last year.

Highest percentage of injuries in any one type of mishap are collisions of motor vehicles with pedestrians. Both last year and this every person struck by a car was injured. The only fatality this year was a pedestrian. Last year in January five pedestrians were struck by cars and this year the total was six.

Highest number of accidents were collisions involving two or more motor vehicles. Six persons were injured in 87 such mishaps last month.

Kraut and Franks Make Thrifty Meals

For Supper, Your Family Will Love Zesty Stew Or Potato Puffs

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Ever think of making a frankfurter-and-sauerkraut stew? It's zesty, thrifty and hearty. Frankfurters and sauerkraut will be featured in food markets from Feb. 4 to Feb. 13, so you may get some good buys.

For another meal try this Kraut, Frankfurter and Potato Puff. It's different and good; fine to serve the family for supper with crusty French bread, a salad and dessert.

Sauerkraut and frankfurter stew with potatoes, onions, carrots, parsnips and celery.

SAUERKRAUT AND FRANKFURTER STEW

Ingredients: 4 chicken bouillon cubes, 3 cups boiling water, one No. 2½ can sauerkraut, 4 medium-sized potatoes (peeled and cut in half), 8 small white onions (peeled), 2 medium-sized carrots (cut in short lengths), 2 medium-sized parsnips (cleaned and coarsely diced), 2 ribs celery (sliced), 3 tablespoons brown sugar, salt and pepper, 8 frankfurters (cut in short lengths).

Method: Dissolve bouillon cubes in boiling water; add sauerkraut, potatoes, onions, carrots, parsnips, celery and brown sugar. Cook, covered, over moderate heat 1½ hours; add salt and pepper to taste and frankfurters. Continue cooking over low heat about 15 minutes or until frankfurters are hot through. Makes 6 servings.

KRAUT, FRANKFURTER AND POTATO PUFF

Ingredients: One No. 2½ can sauerkraut, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard, ¼ cup chopped parsley, 2 teaspoons brown sugar, 1 pound frankfurters, 2 cups mashed potatoes, 3 eggs (separated), salt and pepper.

Method: In a 2-quart casserole, mix sauerkraut, mustard, parsley and brown sugar together thoroughly. Cut frankfurters into 1-inch pieces. Arrange frankfurter pieces in a layer on top of sauerkraut mixture. Mix potatoes and slightly beaten egg yolks well; add salt and pepper to taste. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Spread potato mixture on top of frankfurters. Bake in moderate (375 F.) oven 45 minutes. Serve piping hot. Makes 6 servings.

Beef Appears To Be Week's Best Meat Buy

Sirloin Steak, Roast Reduced Up to Six Cents in Some Cities

"Overall, beef still looks like the best buy in meats," an official of a large food chain said this week. Data from stores in various parts of the country appear to support his statement.

Beef items such as sirloin steak, rib roast and pot roast will be weekend features at many stores, with reductions of up to six cents a pound. However, prices will not be cut everywhere; in some places ribs of beef will rise two to as much as six cents a pound.

Lamb Featured

Leg of lamb and shoulder lamb chops will be specials in some stores. In general, leg of lamb prices will be about the same as a week ago.

Pork chop price tags will be unchanged in most places, too.

Booming egg production is showing up at the retail level. Price reductions of two to four cents a dozen will be fairly common this week. Increases in the flow of milk to market brought a reduction of a half-cent a quart in some areas this week.

Butter prices will be the same as a week ago in nearly all markets. During the week, the National Assn. of Margarine Manufacturers announced that margarine production in 1953 hit a record 1,291,803,000 pounds, topping production of creamery butter distributed to commercial channels.

Instant Coffee Booms

The Senate Agriculture Committee recommended this week that the government regulate trading in coffee in an effort to head off any more skyrocketing rises in retail prices. The Nestle Co., Inc., largest manufacturer of instant coffee in the world, declared that consumers seeking to economize are drinking more and more instant coffee. Makers of instant coffee contend that it's cheaper to use, primarily because there's no waste.

Produce men said wholesale prices declined on most vegetables this week. The outstanding buys, they said, are lettuce, potatoes, onions and cabbage. Among the few vegetables going higher are carrots and celery.

Chance for Advancement Offered

Opportunities Unlimited in Fields of Salesmanship

WASHINGTON (NANA) — If you were a young man in search of a career and had the whole wide world of work to choose from, would you:

Arbitrarily skip over every sixth job possibility?

Ignore those that lead to executive positions?

Spurn careers that pay above-average salaries, sometimes up to six figures?

Shy from jobs where energy, imagination and enterprise usually pay off?

NOT IF YOU had your eyes open! says Changing Times, the Kiplinger magazine, yet thousands of young people every year make all those mistakes. They do it more or less unconsciously, simply by crossing salesmanship off their list of possible life careers. Strangely enough, the very people who cherish the highest hopes for those youngsters' world, success—their parents—often encourage them to overlook the selling field.

What do these men want for their sons? Probably they would say opportunity, substantial rewards, a chance to render a useful service to their fellow men. And that is fair enough. So suppose we see how salesmanship measures up to those requirements.

Is there opportunity? Of roughly 60,000,000 jobs in this country, it is estimated that 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 are selling jobs. That means all those mistakes. They do it more or less unconsciously, simply by crossing salesmanship off their tunity, probably no occupation can rival selling.

What about rewards? The most comprehensive study of salesmen's earnings was recently made by the National Sales Executives Organization and Professor Harry R. Tosdal of Harvard's Business School. They surveyed 1,022 companies and 93,137 salesmen and found that those working on straight salary averaged almost $5,000 a year. Those receiving commissions and bonuses averaged $5,700.

THE SALESMEN WHO rise to become sales executives fare sensationally well. A survey of 275 top sales executives made by Sales Management Magazine showed they averaged $42,500. Most of them got pension and retirement contributions from their firms besides incomes ranging from $25,021 to $212,660! Remember, the average family income today is only about $4,000.

Does selling matter? You could make a good case for the proposition that selling makes this country tick. Sometimes economic seers shudder at what would happen if buyers went on strike. But for an instructive illustration of the value of selling, try imagining the fix we would be in if sellers struck.

We talk about the better mousetrap that will sell itself. No old saw is less reliable. Nothing, no matter how desirable, sells itself. Alexander Graham Bell had a fantastically better means of communication, but he had to struggle for years to get it into use. The telephone had to be sold.

What's more, most things have to be sold two or three times over—as raw material, at wholesale and at retail.

The point of selling, then, is to find markets for all we produce, to put the fruits of productivity where they can be used. Look at salesmanship in that light—as sustaining economic vitality and enhancing individual well-being—and you'll be hard put to argue that it is not a "worth while" way to make a living.

Selling is no dead-end career, either. Unlike some occupations, it offers room to rise. And the ablest men can really soar.

OUTSTANDING MEN can hope to become sales supervisors, in charge of all sales in a given territory and the salesmen who work within it. And they may aspire to moving even higher, to assistant sales manager and then to sales manager.

There are still other horizons of opportunity. Selling is so important to every business that sales-minded people are needed at the very top. Men with sales backgrounds fill jobs titled "vice-president, sales" and often move into the presidency itself.

Whether you measure by opportunities or rewards, selling will stack up pretty well. And there is one final point to remember. Let a successful salesmen say it.

"I don't have to trust to luck ability. The yardstick is always there. I am judged—and paid—by the sales I make. If I earn it, I get it."

New Zealand Linen Flax Industries Nearing End

CHURCHURCH, N. Z. (UP)—The New Zealand linen flax industry, now a mere shadow of the "war boom" business, may face extinction soon.

The New Zealand Linen Flax Corp., which owned a string of 17 factories during the war, now has only five under its control. Soon, the corporation will sell another $66,000 factory on the South Island.

With the overseas pride of linen fibre at only $525 a ton, the industry faces a grim future.

The flax business boomed during the war when fibres were in heavy demand and prices skyrocketed. The end of the war brought a sharp recession, but the Korean War sparked another short-lived boom.

The Dutch floods of 1953, in which thousands of acres of linen flax lands were swamped, also provided a brief respite, but only enough to steady the downward trend in world prices.

In 1942-43, New Zealand grew 21,858 acres of linen flax on behalf of the United Kingdom government, but now the total area is a mere fraction of this amount.

Only a few years ago the Canterbury plains, on the South Island, were studded with flourishing linen-flax mills, and the pounding of mill engines was a familiar sound at Oxford, Methven, Leeston, Waikuku and Makikihi. Otago and Southland had seven mills and Marlborough two.

Whatever the future of the remaining linen flax mills in New Zealand may be, a tremendous increase in linen fibre market prices will be needed before the industry ever can regain its wartime stature.

Sun May Be Next Source of Power

CHICAGO (UP)—Man one day may have to depend on the sun as his only source of power, according to a government engineering consultant.

Palmer Putnam, who does consultant work for the Atomic Energy Commission, said ordinary fuels may be uneconomically recoverable in 75 years and atomic fuels will run out in 175 more. That would leave man with only the sun for power.

Putnam, writing in Science Digest, said this nation must develop ways of using solar energy within the next 100 to 250 years, if it is to maintain its present standard of living.

Research on putting the sun to time. In India, Putnam noted, a work has been going on for some solar cooker to provide cooking facilities for average-sized families already has been put on the market.

In this country, he wrote, a small engine running on sunlight and capable of supplying enough heat and light — and power for pumping and irrigation — to take care of a small farm is commercially feasible at a mass production cost of about $1,000. Solar furnaces for homes are also a reality. Putnam added, but are prohibitively expensive.

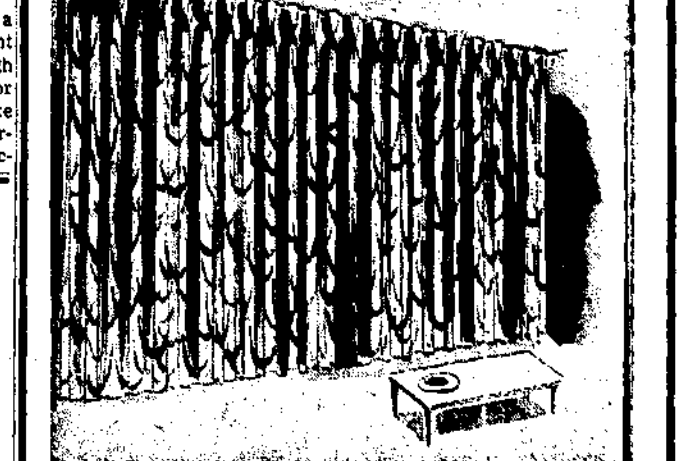

BRIDGE GAME

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Fifteen large bridges span the Ohio River in the 684 miles the river borders Kentucky, from Catlettsburg on the east to Wildfist near the Mississippi. The oldest of these is the suspension bridge between Cincinnati, O., and Covington, Ky. It was started in 1846 by John Roebon. He has played almost every thing, who also engineered the night for 40 years, and in the Brooklyn Bridge and is regarded past four years has held four per cent as the father of the modern suspension bridge.

ANYONE FOR CRIBBAGE? PLYMOUTH, N. H. (UP) — Arthur L. Carpenter, proprietor of the Plymouth Inn, wonders if he's had, O., and Covington, Ky. It some sort of a cribbage champion. He has played almost every thing, who also engineered the night for 40 years, and in the Brooklyn Bridge and is regarded past four years has held four per cent as the father of the modern suspension bridge.

Priest Completes First Study of Navajo Indians

By STEVE LOWELL
ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — A frail white-haired Franciscan priest has completed the first study of the ceremony on which the Navajos base their lives.
The Rev. Bernard Hall, OFM, who has lived with the tribesmen 54 years, has finished the story of what the Navajos call "blessing way."
Ready for publication, it's printed in Navajo accompanied by the English translation.
Father Berard, of St. Michael's, Ariz., started studying the language "the morning I got there" in 1900. After years of preparation he worked out an alphabet. Then he was ready for this advanced work.
You might compare the ceremony to biblical legends on which Christians base all their varied interpretations.
This prehistoric ceremony explains why, if a Navajo holds to his religion, he always will have a traditional dome shaped Navajo home, the hogan, regardless of how wealthy he may become.

PUCG Engineers Report on Tests Of Phone Service

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State utilities commission engineers who checked Mount Vernon Telephone Corp. service testified yesterday they had trouble on one out of every five test calls they made.
The engineers testified at a hearing on the company's application for a $164,000 yearly rate increase. Testimony was given by Darius Cadwell and P. Ben Hummel, two of the engineers who made the test calls late in January.
Cadwell testified 21 per cent of the 837 calls made throughout the system were "unsatisfactory." The calls were made through the Mount Vernon, Danville, Gambier, Fredericktown and Centerburg exchanges.
Both testified transmission of calls between Danville and Mount Vernon was poor and recommended trunks between those communities be improved.
Best service reported was within the Mount Vernon exchange where 95 per cent of the calls were satisfactory. Some 69 per cent of the Mount Vernon to Danville calls were called unsatisfactory, mostly due to poor transmission.
Cadwell said numbers called were selected at random.
Hummel told of inspecting central office equipment and finding it "in very good operating condition." He also said he made 100 of the test calls from Mount Vernon and "every call I made went through good."

KAESONG STREET SCENE. This picture was turned over to The Associated Press by a Korean by an Indian photographer who said he took it in Kaesong, North Korea, a Communist-dominated town just north of Pannunjom, and that it shows some of the 21 American turncoats who refused repatriation walking along the street. There was no explanation how the Indian got to Kaesong, but Indian troops were free to go to Kaesong if invited. None of these men was identified.

Poll Discovers Few Gripes in Families' Lives

NEWARK, N. J. (UP)—Dr. Milton Bell collects the "pet peeves" husbands and wives harbor against each other the way some people collect St. Vitus' dances.

Bell, a resident of Teaneck, N. J., has found that there apparently are more "strands" (about 70) than there are gripes about marital harmony.

Bell is a founder of the Husbands' Protective Association. One of the organization's first protective measures was to set up a "Wives' Protective Association" among spouses of its members.

Bell and his colleagues set out to collect all the husband-wife pet peeves they could find with the idea of eventually publishing them. A booklet they felt, would point up the petty matters that cause family rifts and would start folks laughing at their own shortcomings. They figured on at least 200 gripes.

But so far they've been able to unearth only 37.

Some of the peeves on record include:

1. Husband's cigaret ashes on the living room floor.
2. Wife's knack of hiding her husband's important papers just when he needs them most.
3. Husband's ability to disappear whenever there is work to be done.

Congress Continues Study of Wiretapping Legality

By ALLEN DRURY
WASHINGTON — The private telephone conversations of 160,000,000 Americans will become potential sources of court evidence for the government if Congress grants the administration's request for wiretap authority this session.

Evidence based on wiretapping can't be introduced in federal courts. But bills to change this have been offered in both houses. They're scheduled for early debate in the House. Senate action is expected to follow before adjournment.

PROponents and opponents alike agree that they're repugnant to tradition, dangerous to democcracy and violate individual freedom. But they also agree that some form of wiretapping may be a necessity to safeguard the national safety in the face of the communist conspiracy.

The hard choice between what instinct says shouldn't be done and security says has to be done has produced several alternative proposals. They range from one by Rep. Kit Clardy (R., Mich.), which would permit the government to bring to court wiretap evidence obtained "in the course of an investigation of any matter which concerns or affects the national security," to one by Rep.

Kenneth B. Keating (R., N.Y.), which would permit wiretapping in cases involving subversion, treason or espionage with the express approval of the attorney general, but would permit introduction of wiretap evidence in court only when the getting of such evidence was approved in advance by a federal judge.

THE ADMINISTRATION has submitted a bill to "the leaders" on Capitol Hill, but spokesmen refuse to describe its details. A Justice Department official declined even to repeat the department's own recent statements on the subject.

In May, Attorney General Herbert Brownell sent a letter to House Speaker, Joseph W. Martin asking for a bill which would permit wiretapping "under proper safeguards."

These safeguards Brownell listed as follows:

"In the first place, its application would be restricted to investigations relating to the national security or defense.

"Secondly, wiretap evidence would be admissible only when obtained by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

"Thirdly, wiretapping within the contemplation of the bill would require the express approval of the attorney general.

"Finally, wiretap evidence would be admissible only in criminal proceedings in federal courts."

The Justice Department now declines comment on Rep. Keating's proposal to give a federal judge an advance veto on wiretapping designed to produce evidence for use in court.

THE DEPARTMENT, however, wants the right to use in court wiretap evidence already gathered. A bill by Sen. Charles E. Potter (R., Mich.) would authorize introduction of evidence gained through wiretapping "whether occurring heretofore or hereafter," providing the evidence was to be used in federal prosecutions for "treason, espionage or any other crime involving the national security."

Rep. Keating's bill recently won unanimous approval from a House Judiciary subcommittee. The House leadership hopes to have it or some similar measure through the full committee and ready for floor action in two or three weeks. Although the measure will not move so fast in the Senate, where several members have expressed grave doubts concerning its dangers, the administration still believes a bill will be ready for the President's signature by the time congress goes home this summer.

If this is done, the FBI will then be able to bring to court the vast accumulation of evidence it already has in its files. Also the government will then have the right to put a tap on the individual citizen's privacy whenever national security can be shown.

This may prove to be just what is needed to defeat Communism, or it may prove to be just the self-weakening of democracy which the communists want.

Balancing the dangers against the necessity, the administration and many legislators believe there is no choice but to take the gamble and hope it works out for the best.

GOOD TURN BOUNCES

CHUGIAK, Alaska (UP)—Fred F. Everett, garage owner here, thought he would do a good turn for a traveller in distress. He helped tow a car with a broken axle to his garage, arranged repairs and transportation to Anchorage for the man. The "grateful" motorist gave Everett a check for the expenses. The check bounced.

Large Lighter Collection

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (UP)—It's a cinch to get a light in the L. L. Powers home here.

Mrs. Powers has a collection of more than 100 cigarette lighters, built up over the past 27 years.

She has specimens from seven foreign countries, including one made in Belgium from the aluminum of a downed German plane. Their sizes vary from one made of a beer can to one made to resemble a kitchen match.

The variety includes one shaped like a camera on a tripod, pencils, bottles, a bullet and a tie-clasp lighter.

She doesn't have much competition in her particular collection field, she said. The only other such collector she's heard of is the band leader and drummer, Gene Krupa.

You can always hear plenty of baseball at the Ritz.

Body Defenses Defeat

Cancer in Many Cases

CHICAGO (UP)—Natural defense mechanisms of the body overpower cancer in seven out of eight persons after they reach the age of 40, according to a prominent surgeon.

Many people after 40, says Dr. Ian MacDonald, professor of surgery at the University of Southern California, "repeatedly develop microscopic areas of cancer." One out of eight eventually dies of cancer, he writes.

However, he adds, the other seven have the ability after middle life to "react with such biological violence that incipient cancer is blocked out."

Psychologists Say Eyes Not Always Trustworthy
LOS ANGELES (UP)—A person cannot trust his eyes in judging the size, elevation and color of objects because of psychological influences, say psychologists at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Dr. Richard Centers said a white disc on a board bearing the name "Eisenhower" appeared larger and higher up to most people tested than did a disc of equal size and elevation bearing an unknown name.

This was interpreted to mean that our mental association with objects tends to influence our visual judgments, Dr. Centers said.

Other studies performed at UCLA and elsewhere have indicated that poor children estimate the size of coins to be larger than do children from well-to-do homes, and that a leaf-shaped piece of cloth was judged greener than a donkey-shaped piece of the same cloth.

Porpoises formerly were hunted extensively for their meat.

Venezuela Opens New Farming Area, Offers Help for Pioneers

TUREN, Venezuela (UP)—A new frontier with some of the richest land in the world has been opened here by the Venezuelan government.

Settlers from Europe are raising two crops a year on the virgin topsoil and many are making good profits.

In a part of Venezuela that only a few years ago was a jungle, they live in modern concrete homes with bathrooms and electricity. Their children attend an up-to-date school, and a hospital staffed by three doctors provides free medical service.

It is all part of Venezuela's effort to feed herself and balance her economy, now mainly dependent on oil.

At least two Americans have taken advantage of the government's inducements to qualified settlers. One of them 54-year-old Ralph Boring cleared 35,000 acres in 1952 from the 138 acres he farms with the aid of a Venezuelan farm hand. He owns $30,000 worth of farm equipment, including a harvester. He also has a station wagon and two airplanes one of which he uses for crop dusting.

Streetcar Leaving Routes in Chicago

CHICAGO (UP)—Streetcars are fading from the Chicago scene. A spokesman for the Chicago Transit Authority said that by the end of 1954 there will be only three routes in operation. Chicago has been a pioneer in various forms of urban transit, but it is one of the last of the big cities to dispose of its trolley lines. It is the only big city to have bought new streetcars in the past quarter century. In 1946 and 1947, it put into service a horde of streamlined "green hornet" cars, replacing many of its antiquated red ones. But now, both the red and green cars are on their way out. On Oct. 1, 1947, when the transit authority took over the city's transit lines under a municipal ownership plan, there were 52 street car routes. Now there are only a few, and within the next decade it is possible there will be none. The passing of the streetcar is due partly to economics and partly to traffic congestion, a CTA spokesman said. Streetcars require a two-man crew of motorman and conductor. Modern buses need only a driver. "Wage rates have been going up, and labor costs form the biggest part of our operating costs," the spokesman said. "If we are to economize we must cut labor costs." Streetcars also are handicapped in heavy traffic, lacking the maneuverability of buses, the spokesman said. Some Chicagoans complain that the vanishing streetcars could handle more passengers than buses. The city's most modern streetcars seat 58, while its biggest buses accommodate 55. Most of the city's new propane-powered buses seat 51 passengers. Propane buses now in operation number 500 and the fleet will total 900 when current orders are filled. Many of the "Green Hornet" streetcars, contracted for before the CTA took over the transit lines, are being converted by their St. Louis manufacturer for use on Chicago elevated and subway lines. Many of the lumbering old red streetcars are being scrapped at an estimated value of $500 each.

Public Interest Reawakened

Lindbergh, 52, Emerges From Long Retirement

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Aviation Writer
WASHINGTON (U)—Charles A. Lindbergh, half-forgotten for years, is 52 today, and the birthday finds a reawakened interest in the man, the enigma, the contradiction.

The younger generation, those who never knew the thrill of Lindbergh's solo flight from New York to Paris in 1927, is reading of his exploits in his autobiography. Serialized in a magazine last year, a fuller version in book form has become a best seller. Reports are that the Lindbergh story has been sold to the films for more than a million dollars.

Emerges from Seclusion

Only last week the man himself emerged from a Garbo-like seclusion of more than four years, made a rather unusual speech, smiled, shook hands, and then retreated again to his Darien, Conn., home.

Lindbergh has managed to make himself so unknown to the public that he can—and does—go anywhere these days without being recognized.

Last week, for example, he and Mrs. Lindbergh walked into the Astor Hotel on New York's teeming Times Square, registered and went to their room, with no one giving them a second look.

Lindbergh had come to address the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences, and to receive the institute's Daniel Guggenheim Award for "pioneering achievements in flight and air navigation."

More than 2,000 persons assembled to hear the famed flier. But for his position at the center of the head table, few would have recognized him. Even fewer were able to spot his wife.

For Lindbergh takes satisfaction that no "recognizable" photograph of him has been taken in more than seven years. He has told friends he was driven to avoid photographers after he and Mrs. Lindbergh were followed about New York in 1947 by rude and curious passersby.

The pictures of Lindbergh most frequently reprinted were taken in the decade following his transatlantic flight.

The Lindbergh of today has a round, full, almost cherubic face. He is stouter than of old, but not fat. His hair line has receded half way back across the head.

Detroit-born, Minnesota-reared Charles Lindbergh took easily to fame, despite an inborn shyness, when it was thrust upon him on his arrival in Paris May 21, 1927. His modest behavior in months of travel to many countries contributed to American prestige.

Courtship of World Interest

Lindbergh's courtship of Anne Morrow, their marriage in May 1929, the birth of their son, Charles Jr. in 1930, were events the whole world read and talked about.

Then came the kidnapping and slaying of 21-months-old baby Charles, the arrest and trial of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, and the retirement of the Lindberghs to England a few months before Hauptmann's execution.

The Lindberghs endured their sorrow, reared more children, and made pioneering flights about the world together. Mrs. Lindbergh gathered material for two successful books.

There are three sons: Jon, 21, Land, 16, Scott, 10; and two daughters, Anne, 13, and Reeve, 8.

In the months immediately before World War II Lindbergh's pop-

DOESN'T SLEEP. Italian doctors are puzzled over the case of 14-month-old Gualtiero Dapor (above), Rovereto, who sleeps only 10 minutes a day. This state of sleeplessness followed a trip into the mountains with his parents during which the change of air brought on a continuous 12-hour sleep.

ularity with the public wore thin. The once-adored flier in a 1941 speech said "the British, the Jewish and the Roosevelt administration" were the "three most important groups which have been pressing this country toward war."

In another he said "the quickest way for America to lose a war would be to attack Germany."

Bitterly Attacked

The Texas House of Representatives formally asked Lindbergh not to visit Texas. The Logan County, W. Va., school board ordered his picture taken down from schoolrooms. Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida called him "the chief of the fifth columnists." President Franklin D. Roosevelt spoke disparagingly of him at a press conference.

Lindbergh resigned his commission as a colonel in the Air Corps Reserve.

But upon the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, Lindbergh offered his services to the War Department, early in 1942 became an adviser at the Ford bomber plant. Later he advised the air services, flew combat missions in the Pacific.

Since the war he has made a number of trips as an air force adviser, but has been seen in public rarely.

In his book "Of Light and Life" published in 1948, Lindbergh embarked upon the "third cause" of his life. He said his first was to preach the wonders of flight to all who would listen.

The second, before World War II, was to keep America "out of Europe's suicidal internal wars." And now, Lindbergh said, he believes that "if we do not control our science by a higher moral force, it will destroy us with its materialistic values, its rocket aircraft and its atom bombs."

In his speech last week he reiterated that spiritual theme.

"Short-term survival may depend on the knowledge of nuclear physicists and the performance of supersonic aircraft, but long-term survival depends alone on the character of man," he said.

"While we concentrate our attention on the tools of economics, and war, we must not neglect the basic means of surviving, the basic reason for survival, man himself."

Former Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett called it a "superb" speech. Airline executive Eddie Rickenbacker termed it "a classic—one for the schoolbooks." The institute reported hundreds of calls for copies.

Indian Forbidden To Scalp Without Getting License

ALBANY, N. Y. (U)—The secretary of state has forbade a St. Regis Indian from engaging in scalp operations without a barber's license.

Thomas J. Curran reported yesterday that Peter Lazore of Hogsburg, near the Canadian border, had been fined $50 for barbering without a license.

Lazore based his defense on a

1790 treaty between his tribe and the federal government permitting braves of the St. Regis tribe to hunt and fish without licenses.

The State Department insisted that the pact did not apply to operations on the scalp. Peace Justice Nigel Leclair of Bombay agreed and Lazore was fined.

Lazore has applied for a barber's license, Curran said.

Comparison with 1949

In 1949, Fair Dealers were running the federal government. World War II was a recent memory but had ceased to be an economic factor. Federal spending had been reduced to less than 4 billion dollars. There was an economic readjustment of considerable magnitude.

In midyear economic report that year, President Truman said there was a moderate downward trend. Unemployment in June had gone over three million.

President Truman said in a message to the American public on July 13, 1949, there was nothing to be concerned about. The U. S. economy he said was still strong and stable. His countrymen agreed and praised him for saying so—all except the creeping socialists who wondered if he had turned against them.

When the 1950 economic report came out the next January, Mr. Truman could say "It was clear that an eventual adjustment was inevitable (after the boom) before we would have a firm basis for stability and steady economic growth. During 1949 we met the test of that adjustment. Our economy continues strong. We have regained stability; but we need more than stability. The great motivating force in our economic system is the perpetual will to move ahead, to use our skills and our resources more efficiently to produce more at lower cost, and to provide a better and richer life for all our citizens." The events of 1949 demonstrated anew the basic strength of the American economy. They also demonstrated that economic affairs are not beyond human control."

People who believed in private enterprise began to think Mr. Truman must have turned his back on the creeping socialists. Even the creepers knew the boom couldn't last forever and that some kind of readjustment was inevitable.

But Fair Dealers — and people who think the same way — now are shouting over every microphone they can grab that readjustment after the Korean war boom is a sign of economic disaster.

They are doing this in spite of the fact the readjustment is less painful than it was in 1949 when creeping socialism was creeping and they were riding on its back. At the end of January unemployment was less than two and a-half million.

President Eisenhower has said in his annual economic report what Harry Truman said four years ago. Yet the same people who agreed with Truman that things were all right are sneering that Eisenhower is trying to cover up an economic disaster.

The curse of this republic has become people who would destroy it cheerfully to discredit the free-enterprise system.

By the time news of Australian tennis matches gets into print here, it's tepid stuff. But even with the heat removed the news about what has happened to United States players in Australia is warm enough to reveal that competitive sports offer nothing to the improvement of international relations.

After losing the Davis Cup matches, the American players stayed in Australia to lose the Australian championship matches and maintain a perfect record of adding complications to relations between Australia and the United States.

The climax of bad feeling seems to have been reached when an uncouth spectator snarled to one U. S. player who had failed to captivate the gallery, "Go home, you mugg." There also were such affronts as rude applause when our boys goofed and close decisions on foot faults which caused American players to fly into rages.

The Olympic games invariably put an extra strain on international relations. But when even tennis can create discord, it's no wonder that the thing most to be feared whenever men try to compete with one another in athletics is the outbreak of another war.

When Kale Sprouts

There will occur sometime before the end of February a condition of climate which will cause weather-watchers with special sensitivity to exclaim, "Spring is here!"

They won't be far wrong. While there are some who insist the only good thing about February is its length, the Anglo-Saxons did not call it Sprout Kale month for nothing.

Things do start to happen in February. The spring crop of lambs and babies begins to show up. The hospitals and sheepfolds. Crocuses begin to tunnel toward warmth on sunny slopes. Baseball players go to training camps.

It is as good a time as any to plant lettuce or pasture grass. Valentine Day is a suitable occasion for the beginning of spring romances. And when all else seems a waste of time an anxious weather-watcher always can inspect the bright buds on an old lilac — buds which when pried open will reveal that when spring comes nature will be ready with all its wonderful paraphernalia of leaves and blossoms.

Constitutional Way

Federal Bodies Rout Reds by Orderly Process

They are impersonal and non-partisan in the United States Senate when it comes to fighting Communism inside or outside this country.

By a vote of 85 to 1, the Senate approved the expenditure of $216,000 for the use of the Senate Committee on Governmental Operations.

This is the committee of which Sen. McCarthy is chairman. For several weeks now there have been press dispatches saying that the Wisconsin senator would have trouble getting a continuing appropriation for his committee and that he was about to be punished for sundry aberrations in the field of his inquiries.

As has happened time and again for the last 20 years, when there is a roll-call vote in either house of Congress the tally is overwhelmingly in favor of carrying on the investigations by congressional committees on the subject of Communism or corruption or irregularities in governmental administration.

The anti-Communist issue is one that has aroused deep feelings but the "grass roots" sentiment is that, where there's fire there is smoke and that it is up to the Congress as a watchdog to keep an eye on what is being done by the executive branch of the government to ferret out subversives and to protect the security of the United States.

MANY PEOPLE who never have understood their own Constitution, with its separation of powers and with its checks and balances, have assumed that the legislative branch of the government is subordinate to instead of coordinate with the executive branch.

For years there has been a campaign belittling or ridiculing members of Congress and the institution itself.

There are citizens who have grown up in recent years believing that a congressional committee hasn't any right to make an inquiry except when it has a specific legislative aim.

They overlook the fact that Congress can investigate for the purpose of writing new laws or amending the Constitution, or to repeal any laws or provisions of the Constitution.

The citizen is not obligated always to answer the questions of Congress but the committees have a virtually unlimited right to ask the questions.

The Senate Committee on Governmental Operations has a broad scope. It goes into questions of improper influences inside the government, misuse of authority, corruption and irregularities of all kinds.

By centering in one committee in the House and one in the Senate the supervision of government personnel operations, an extensive work of checking the executive departments and agencies is conducted.

SOME CITIZENS, of course have an exaggerated idea of the anti-Communist issue.

The other day a group in Norwalk, Conn. decided to send in names to the Federal Bureau of Investigation based on their own impressions of the loyalty of individuals. This has been rightly condemned as a dangerous practice.

The self-appointed group of vigilantes can do harm to a good cause—the furnishing of information to the government.

During World War I there were units in various cities which sent to the Department of Justice lists of those with German names because they suspected possible connection with the German cause in the war. This led to an abuse which was far worse than anything that has happened since.

The memory of these injustices burns vividly in the minds of many loyal citizens who were subjected to embarrassment in those days by self-appointed investigators.

A citizen acting as an individual, has a right to send information to his government, but the information ought to relate solely to something concrete of which he has personal knowledge as to law violation. It is useless if it is only hearsay, or if it is rumor or if it merely concerns another person's views.

THE QUESTION is asked "Can't the FBI be depended upon to do it all?" Not long ago J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, appealed for help from former Communists and others in touch with Communist activities so that the government might be better informed.

He has said there is need also for the work of congressional committees. By the power of subpoena, Congress can bring to light many things that the FBI cannot touch unless there is concrete proof of law violation.

So far as employment in the government is concerned, it is not necessary for a case to be provable in a court of law. It is only necessary to establish a reasonable doubt as to the integrity of an individual employee.

Sometimes congressional committees disclose practices that have covered up actual and potential security risks.

Today, if a government employee refuses to answer a question from a congressional committee on the ground that it may incriminate him, this is automatically grounds for dismissal from the government service without further proceedings.

Get a Horse

By TRUMAN TWILL

One of this department's pet ideas has bloomed anew in an announcement by the original and largest manufacturer of slide fasteners that it has a new design which frees itself in a jam.

This is great news for every harassed slide-fastener user who has floundered and cursed his way out of the dilemma which ensues when a slide-fastener jams itself on a misplaced piece of fabric.

But there are other gadgets besides slide fasteners which go askew, and it has been this department's pet idea that the paraphernalia of civilization won't be complete until it has built-in ways of rescuing infuriated users when they are stranded by mechanical failures.

A few days ago a quirk of mischance caused a jam in the transmission box of the mortgage wagon that hauls groceries for the Twillery. What was needed in this emergency was a gearshift with a handle on it that a user could force into operation. Who ever heard of such a thing on an automatic transmission?

What leaves victims with a more helpless feeling than a failure of electric power which strands thousands with nothing to fall back on—not even a candle or a chunk of combustible wood? Whenever it happens, imagination conjures up a picture of faceless hordes perishing some day because someone flipped the main switch and left them helpless.

No person who ever has stared sourly at a newfangled electric pump which has gone on the fritz can help but wonder what would be wrong with providing a pump handle or its manual equivalent for auxiliary use — just in case.

A similar thought has pierced the infuriated mind of every baffled male who, unable to start an outboard motor, a power mower, or a garden tractor has wished desperately for a good pair of oars or an old-fashioned hand-pushed mower or a willing horse.

That newest and most novel of civilization's miraculous gadgets, television, could do worse than include in its maze of wire and glass tubing a device for projecting pictures of the Grand Canyon by hand in the event of a mechanical failure which might leave a household high and dry two hours before bedtime with nothing to look at but the inmates.

Guidance Badly Needed

Eisenhower Slows Socialism's Pace

By Raymond Moley

President Eisenhower's resentment at the charge that his program is merely more of the same that we have had for 20 years is justified.

In most aspects of his administration and in his proposals in the budget and in the separate messages there is a perceptible change of direction, and that change is vital.

The President's little play on words to the effect that he is liberal in human relationships and conservative in economic affairs means nothing. Every raid on the U. S. Treasury in the past 20 years has been in the sweet name of humanity. And a raid on the Treasury is an economic matter of importance.

THE BRIGHTEST spot in Eisenhower's budget was the reflection of his determination to halt the trend toward federal socialism in the field of electric power and in the federal exploitation of natural resources.

In this the President is following the leadership of his wise secretary of the interior and also his own personal knowledge of the spending proclivities of the Army Corps of Engineers.

The Bureau of Reclamation, which under previous administrations was a mighty force for socialization, is rapidly being cut down to rational limits.

Expenditures in this bureau in 1953 were 235 million dollars, for 1954, an estimated 182 million, and for 1955, 167 million. For the Army Engineers the figures for the three years were 578 million, 416 million and 361 million dollars.

The President's attitude toward federal aid for highways, however, has failed to follow his belief in returning responsibilities to the states.

THE FIGURES for the three years were 550 million, 592 million and 582 million dollars. However, later there may be, as a result of the recommendations of the President's Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, a proposition before Congress to return the gasoline tax to the states and to let them build their own highways.

There is little comfort for those who long for economy in the recommendations for foreign aid. The figures show little decision to taper off.

Meanwhile, the cost of Social Security is rising. The health program is generally conservative with the exception of a guarantee of private health insurance. No one seems fully to understand this proposal, and it will not become clear until the committees of Congress have examined the idea.

At this stage it looks as if such a guarantee would merely permit private organizations to offer broader cheaper and perhaps less prudent coverage.

A WISER suggestion would be that insurance for medical and hospital expenses have an exemption of say $50-$100 on the same

Mark Twain's House

By Frank Tripp

They are going to tear down the Fifth Avenue 1840 house where Mark Twain lived near the close of his life 1904 to 1908. It is off New York's Washington Square, a four-story brick, corner of Ninth St. An apartment will go up. There's a movement to preserve it.

If alive Mark could scrawl off a thousand dollar paragraph about it some morning while eating breakfast in bed.

THE OLD HOUSE is a far cry from Sam Clemens Nevada lodgings of the 50's when as a 'terrible-tempered redhead reporter' he first signed a story 'Mark Twain' in Virginia City Territory. 'Enterprise', still publishing and 95 years old right now.

Lodgings such as the night the Enterprise celebrated the installation of Nevada's first 'steam press' with pistols and countless magnums. The orgy ended in Mark's sleeping in a doorway and a cold which kept him off the job three days.

IT COULD BE that Mark was thinking of that night when amid the Fifth Ave comforts he had Katie Leary phone his friend Andrew Carnegie and tell him that he had a cold.

Katie Leary was our townswoman who was housekeeper for the Clemens family for 40 years. After Sam's death she conducted a rooming house on 96th St. where Elmira's were wont to gather and reminisce among them Bill McLaughlin, who told me these stories.

One time when Mister Clemens rang for me he let me stand unmuted for several minutes while he wrote 'said Katie. When he looked up he said 'Oh you are here, Katie. Close the door not that it lets the cold in—but because it lets the coziness out.'

ANOTHER TIME cold really was Mark's problem. He said 'Call Mr. Carnegie. Kaue and tell him I have a cold and to send over some Scotch whisky.'

Two days passed and Mark told Katie 'Call that old Scotch so-and-so again and ask him where my whisky.' Katie called and Carnegie said, 'Tell him he'll get his whisky.'

And made good. That afternoon a truck drove up and unloaded four barrels on the sidewalk in front of 21 Fifth Ave.

It is on the stationery of that

THE GREENWICH village

Chamber of Commerce will be glad if it can salvage 21 Fifth Ave on a new site. Elmira is said that it didn't preserve the house to which young Sam Clemens came to write 'The Innocents Abroad', where he courted and wed Olivia Langdon where his children played, and from which he was banished.

The town woke in time to save the rustic study in which he wrote many of his books, and moved it to Elmira College campus Hannibal, Mo., made a shrine of his birthplace Hartford Conn., preserved his long time home in that city Good luck to Greenwich Village which isn't all underground hot spots.

Elmira's Woodlawn is Sam Clemens' last resting place, beside his beloved Olivia and near his daughter Clara's famed husband Ossip Gabrilowitsch whose dying wish was to repose at the feet of Mark Twain—which is right where he is.

As figuratively ever will be all lovers of true humor.

As early as 1830 or 1831 Rev Harrison Jones of the Christian denomination preached in Scott Township in the neighborhood of Caledonia. On Jan. 12, 1840, a church was organized at Leumerville, now Kirkpatrick, with about 16 members. First officials were Jackson Downing, James Till and John and William Hill. In the following spring a hewed log church was erected in the village at an expense of $100. Later this was replaced by a frame building at a cost of $1,000.

The Once Over

The 'What's My Lineup?' Hour

Daily police lineup of prisoners to be telecast to all stations by New York Police Department. —News item.

Inspector—And now that spectacular unique and very talented crook 'Skeels' Doodle. He comes to us direct from an attempted bank robbery. We're happy to have him here.

Prisoner—Thanks. I know what it means to make this Trouble-or-Nothing program.

Inspector—Wrong program. This is 'Meet the Pressure.' What's your story?

Prisoner—It's simple. All my life I wanted to get into show business. I kept trying to break in and here I am on TV.

Inspector—How much did you get on that last job of yours?

Prisoner—No matter. I'm being handled by an agent from here in Hello Bitch Hello, Mugsy.

Inspector—What are you doing?

Prisoner—Just waiting to some of my friends in Joliet, Atlanta and Detroit.

Inspector—Didn't I see you on a cooking program?

Prisoner—No. I beat that rap.

Inspector—How much did you get in that safe job in Duluth last month. No prompting?

Prisoner—Can you give me a clue? The answer is on the tip of my tongue.

Inspector—Tongue is the key word. You win $50.

Prisoner—Mississippi.

Inspector—What do you mean, Mississippi?

Prisoner—On all TV program the question what's the largest river in America is asked at some point and it's generally good for $1,000 and a free airplane trip to Honolulu. Boy, could I use those things now.

Inspector—Just the facts please. Just the facts. Have you ever been in serious trouble before?

Prisoner—No. This is my first time on TV.

Inspector—Where have you performed before coming on this 'What's My Lineup?' hour?

Prisoner—If I named all the places I'd just be guessing.

Inspector—You can't do any guessing here. Prisoner—Why not? It's done for Jackpots on all the other BIG QUIZ PROGRAMS.

(The strains from a band organ in the street are heard.)

Inspector—Name that tune!

Prisoner—It must be 'The Prisoner's Song' or 'Don't Fence Me In.'

Inspector—Wrong. Time's up. Would you mind going home and coming back next week?

Prisoner—ARE YOU KIDDIN'?

Inspector—Just for that I'm sending you to the district attorney. And don't forget to say that Inspector Smith sent you!

Can you remember away back when the side winning a war came out ahead?

It looks as if the Big Four couldn't even agree to pooling politeness.

Best comment on that recent court decision against the censoring of vile and degrading movies came from Archbishop John O'Hara — "In effect the court has ruled that the states may label as poison only what affects the body, not the soul."

"Lucky" Luciano a top hood was pardoned from a 30 year prison term for 'helping the war effort' and is now living opulently in Italy, but hundreds of thousands of American kids who also helped the war effort have been dead a long time. What goes?

Bender, Saxbe To Wage Battle

Deadline Finds Lausche, Rhodes Both Unopposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Frank J. Lausche, Democratic incumbent and one of the closest politicians in the state's history, and James A. Rhodes, hard - campaigning young Republican now serving as state auditor, will battle it out alone this year for Ohio's highest elected post, the governorship.

Lausche has served as governor of Ohio longer than any other man. Rhodes is a former three-term mayor of Columbus.

Nobody filed to oppose them before the 4 p.m. deadline yesterday. That means, for the first time in 40 years, the races will go uncontested in the May 4 primary.

Lausche, the 58-year-old former Cleveland judge and mayor, re-wrote Ohio history when he won an unprecedented fourth term as governor in 1952. He was beaten for the post once — after his first term—but came right back in 1948 to regain the governorship and has held it since.

Tough Campaigner

Rhodes, 44, has won himself a reputation as a tough campaigner and rides toward the primaries on the shoulders of a popularity surge among Republicans.

The biggest pre-primary fight shapes up between a couple of Republicans—veteran Rep. George K. Bender and William Saxbe, 37-year-old speaker of the Ohio House. They both want the U.S. senatorial nomination.

Bender, 56-year-old Cleveland lawyer, has the party endorsement but Saxbe, a 37-year-old lawyer from Mechanicsburg (Champaign County), jarred GOP hopes for harmony.

Whoever wins the primary nod will have another tough fight on his hands. Sen. Thomas A. Burke is unopposed for the Democratic nomination. Lausche appointed the 55-year-old former Cleveland mayor to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Robert A. Taft, Cincinnati Republican who was the Senate majority leader.

Burke, Saxbe and Bender are vying for the two years remaining in Taft's term.

'Strike It Rich' Opposes Drive On Giveaways

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City's drive against radio-TV giveaway programs that get money from the public was defied last night by "Strike It Rich," first of the shows to be criticized.

The program went on the air without changing its format or waiting for the license the Welfare Department said it should have. Welfare Commissioner Henry L. McCarthy yesterday declared that "programs like this are a national disgrace" and "play into the hands of the Communists."

The program questions people who tell hard-luck stories. They win prizes by correctly answering the quiz, and then people phone in to offer cash, jobs, homes and other aid.

This puts it in the same category as a charity, the Welfare Department rules, and should be licensed.

McCarthy's are was directed at "Strike It Rich" because, he said, at least 55 families, lured by the promise of "easy money" have chased the program's rainbow from all over the country right onto New York City's relief rolls.

The Welfare Department suggested that producer Walter Flanner change the program's format. Warren Hull, the "Strike It Rich" master of ceremonies briefly told listeners last night about the "Heart Fund," the part of the program under fire.

"We have never asked for any contributions whatever," Hull declared and told how the fund is audited.

He insisted that it's all gravy for the recipients, none of the money going for overhead.

"Some people sort of criticize 'Strike It Rich,'" he said. "I don't get it—it's a funny world."

People who appear on the show also get money put up by the sponsor if they answer questions correctly.

Sidney J. Dubroff, the show's public relations man, told a news conference, "We do not want to step on Mr. McCarthy's toes (but)

Water Wings New Feature On Army Tanks

DETROIT (AP)—The Army's 48-ton tanks now can don water wings to cross deep streams and lakes and keep on fighting at the same time.

Development of flotation equipment to permit this was announced by the Detroit Arsenal today.

Actually the water wings are big floats made from a solid foam-type plastic which support the tanks in the water.

The Army said it has tested the equipment on M47 and M48 medium tanks in Lake St. Clair.

The plastic floats were described as less than half the weight of Balsawood Balsawood is the Peruvian wood which became especially famous for its use in the trans-Pacific "kon-tiki" raft voyage.

The raft was built of balsawood trees. Not only can the tanks cross deep waters but they can fire their 90-millimeter guns and machine guns in their turrets while in motion. The crews aren't exposed.

Steering is done from within. Once a tank reaches shore, it can drop its water wings in an instant.
